The enemy's heavy guns already have the range beyond Bassano, which lies on the Venetian plain near the entrance to the Brenta Valley, and while the city itself is not being shelled, occasional shells have fallen in the outskirts and some have passed over the city to the suburbs beyond.

The reports show that the enemy is employing seventeen divisions in his operations between the Brenta and Piave rivers. Of these six are certainly and nine probably German. Deserters who come in say that the enemy troops declare they will be in the plain by the holidays as they are strong in their desire to get down from the mountain heights before the hardships of winter set in.

Five different attempts to cross the old Piave near its mouth indicate that the enemy is adopting the plan of striking the two extremities of the line with the purposes of bending one or the other back on the center.

The drive to Monte Asolone takes the enemy line some distance south of the Italian and Allied positions on the Upper Piave. The exact positions of the British and French forces cannot be stated, but, generally speaking, they are not at the extremities, and it appears to be part of the enemy's cunning to strike at the extremities where the Italians are holding single-handed.

The place where the enemy gained a foothold, on the west bank of the old Piave and was driven back to the water's edge, is the

THEATRICAL SHOWS SPOILED BY AIR RAID.

LONDON SAYS DAMAGE SLIGHT, BUT ACTORS COULD NOT BE ON JOB.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Wednesday, Dec. 19.—Last night's air raid made less impression upon London people than any of its predecessors and the casualties were small in view of the fact that the Gothas came just at the time people were on their way home from shop and office. The material damage was slighter, too, than in some less pretentious attempts of the Germans.

The visit of the Germans was expected, as the new moon gave little light and there were intervals when the sky was clouded. It was thought that perhaps the raiders reckoned upon the help of light reflected from the snow, which lies in a thin coating upon the raided area.

One effect of the raid was to spoil the theater performances. At some of the theaters the play could not be given because the actors were held up on their way to the playhouse.

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—Robbery of the State Bank of Summit, a suburb, early today, of $20,000 or more, called attention to the appalling list of bank and pay roll robberies in Chicago and suburbs in the last eighteen months.

According to an official of a big burglar insurance company, there have been seventeen bank robberies, netting approximately $400,000, and fourteen pay roll robberies of insured firms, netting $200,000 to the bandits in the period mentioned. The depredations have cost the lives of seven policemen.

TWO AVIATORS DEFEAT SQUADRON OF FLYERS.

Australians Down One Enemy, Scatter Others—Air Fight Won by British.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Dec. 19.—Aviation activities by the British army air service are reported in an official statement tonight as follows:

"Good work was done in the air on Monday by Australian pilots. Two of them who were attacked, by many hostile scouts when employed on artillery work, succeeded in bringing down one of the enemy's machines in our lines and dispersed the remainder.

"On Tuesday a thick haze again limited flying to the northern part of the front, where a great deal of artillery photographic work was done. During the day over 150 bombs were dropped on the enemy's railway stations, siddings and trenches, and many rounds were fired from the air into trenches and billets.

"Fighting in the air on this part of the front was intense all day and resulted greatly in our favor. Seven hostile machines were brought down by our airplanes, and one was shot down in our lines by anti-aircraft gun fire and another by the fire of our infantry. Three others were driven down out of control. Three of our machines are missing.

After dark yesterday our airplanes bombed the St. Denis Westrem, Roulers and Lichtervelde aerodromes and the Thourout, Ledeghem and Cambrai and Menin railway stations. All of our machines returned."

BALFOUR PUNCTURES PACIFISTS' ARGUMENT.

America's and England's Objects in War are Methods Rather Than Aims.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Wednesday, Dec. 19.—Foreign Secretary Balfour made a spirited reply in the House of Commons this afternoon to attacks by Arthur Ponsonby, Liberal member for Stirling Burghs, a pacifist, regarding the war aims of Great Britain and her allies, the published versions of which Mr. Ponsonby said did not tally with the proposals of the secret treaties.

Mr. Balfour in his response declared that President Wilson's statements on war policy were absolutely identical in spirit with those of the leaders of thought in Great Britain. He did not think there had been in the whole history of the war more powerful state documents than those issued by the President of the United States.

When Mr. Ponsonby sneeringly charged that the Allies were sheltering themselves behind the President's reply to the Pope, continued Mr. Balfour, he presumed the member meant no more than that when a statement of policy was admirably made by the head of the great American republic it might not be necessary, and very often was unnecessary, that it should be at once repeated on this side of the Atlantic. The British government, he continued, had not refused a conference of war aims, but the problem presented enormous difficulties and it was his belief that friendly conversations were better than a formal conference for the discussion of these delicate matters.

In any event, added Mr. Balfour, all the Allies, including Russia, were strongly of the opinion that this was an unopportune moment for such discussion. What was desirable was a discussion of war methods rather than of war aims.

Mr. Balfour defended at length the government's procedure with regard to the agreements between the Allies concerning Constantinople, Persia, etc. He declared that Italy properly deserved some rearrangement of territory in her favor.

Great Britain, continued the Foreign Secretary, never desired or encouraged the idea that a bit of Germany should be severed from the parent state and erected into a sort of independent republic or buffer state on the left bank of the Rhine.

AMERICAN AVIATION CAMP EXTOLLED.

VAST TRAINING QUARTERS IN FRANCE BUILT WITH HOME MATERIAL.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, Tuesday, Dec. 18.—The wonders of a vast American training camp for aviators in Central France are described enthusiastically in the Petit Parisien by Paul Ginisty, who has just visited the camp. With the exception of a few huts, he writes, all the material was brought from America. The work was begun in September under the direction of 250 men, experts in various branches, and the driving power which they are putting into their tasks was evident on every hand. From this camp fully trained pilots will be sent to the front. French aviators are there to give the benefit of their experiences.

BILLY SUNDAY BEATS UP HUN.

[DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ATLANTA (Ga.) Dec. 20.—Billy Sunday waged a furious fist fight with a German sympathizer on the platform tonight. The attack came when the evangelist began a vigorous attack on the Germans and their allies, especially the Turks. At once there came cries of "Move on" and "Stop him."

W. H. Beauterbaugh, a carpenter, advanced threateningly on Sunday. The evangelist opened hostilities with a lead and Beauterbaugh, who outweighed him fifty pounds at least, landed a glancing blow. Billy countered with a heavy wallop to the chest. The crowd rushed to the platform and tore the fighters apart.

Premier.

LARGER SACRIFICES ASKED OF ENGLAND.

Shipping Losses Less Than Expected, but will Have to Strengthen Army, Lloyd George Declares.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Dec. 20. — Complete restoration of the territories taken by the enemy, together with compensation, was demanded today by Premier Lloyd George in explaining the war aims of the government.

The Premier said that the losses in shipping had been lighter by hundreds of thousands of tons than he had anticipated in his August estimate. If the Russian army had fulfilled the expectations of its generals, by this time the pride of the German military power would have been completely humbled. On the whole, the British campaign had not achieved the expectations formed, he said, but there had been military successes in Palestine which would have a permanent effect on the history of the world. Jerusalem, he said, never would be restored to the Turks.

After referring to the Italian reverses, the Premier said it would be necessary for Great Britain to make greater sacrifices to strengthen its armies in the coming year. The need would arise to increase the nation's man power by taking some men now exempted.

THE OCCASION.

The Premier's speech was delivered when adjournment for the holidays was moved in the House of Commons this afternoon. He dealt first with the problem of food. Two circumstances, he said, had contributed lately to the gravity of the situation—the failure to obtain margarine and butter from Holland and Denmark and the fact that England had been required to make sacrifices in order to supply deficiencies of her allies. Owing to the efforts of the food controller, an improvement was visible in circumstances which had caused so much anxiety in the last few days. More tea was coming in and it was hoped by increased manufacture to improve the situation as regarded margarine shortly.

Owing to the food difficulties in Germany, the Premier went on, the physical deterioration of workmen there had been so marked that the output per man had been decreased by 33 per cent.

As for the British casualties, Mr. Lloyd George said they had not amounted to more than one-fourth or one-fifth of the Germans. Opposed to Germany, Austria and their allies, he asserted, were man power and reserves more than double those which the Teutonic Allies possessed.

The government, said the Premier, would confer next week with trades unions on the man-power proposals.

AMERICA'S ADVENT.

The advent of America into world politics, the Premier declared, was an event which would loom large in the future. This was true also of the establishment of the international council at Versailles.

As for the disposition of the German colonies, the Premier said, that must be settled by the peace congress. The future trustees of those countries must take into account the sentiments of the people themselves.

The Premier told his hearers that a league of nations in which Germany was represented by triumphant militarism would be a hollow farce.

Great Britain did not enter the war, the Premier asserted, to increase by a yard the territory of any one else, but because of the belief that Britain's honor, the question of standing by her word, was involved.

The next few months, said Mr. Lloyd George, would be most trying ones, as one great power had gone out and another had not fully come in.

Former Premier Asquith, following Mr. Lloyd George, said the primary need at this moment was ships, for which the new construction must be supplied by Great Britain and the United States. Everything turned on transport, he pointed out, and in every discussion on man power that must be the dominating factor.

"If we could project ourselves into the year two thousand, what would be the opinion of many of the events of today?" asked the Premier. No doubt the Russian revolution would hold a conspicuous place. Another feature would be the advent of America for the first time, not into the war, but into world politics—a gigantic event of itself. The next event would be the conquest of Mesopotamia and Palestine, and the release of Arabia from the Dominion of Turkey. Another event would be the setting up of the inter-Allied Council."

The Premier said that at this council would be discussed and decided questions which would give a greater effect on international relations than anyone could imagine. So far it had been a conspicuous success; it had been free from factional feeling and had helped remove friction. The various countries have found that it means the removal of friction in discussing and interchanging views, and he had no doubt it would have a great influence in the direction of the economic policy of the four governments represented. The machinery established at Versailles would have a potent influence in unifying the war and economic strategy of the Allies.

ANXIETIES.

The necessity of sending troops to Italy and the Russian armistice, the Premier said, had increased the anxieties of the Allies, and cast further obligations on them.

"It is therefore absolutely necessary," he declared, "for the security of our armies and our country, and for the defense of our Allies that this country should make greater sacrifices in order to strengthen the armies in the field during the coming year."

The pledges given to labor in 1916 regarding men exempted, he added, would either have to be altered or cancelled, and Sir Auckland Geddes, Minister of National Service, had called a conference for next week to consider the matter.

Another circumstance which impelled the government to make a further demand upon the man power of the country was that under present conditions they had been forced to send men back to the fighting line who had been repeatedly wounded. That was unfair and intolerable while there were men who had never been at the front.

FUTURE PROSPECTS.

As to future prospects, continued the Premier, one great power had practically gone out of the war and another great power had not fully come in, and therefore the burden on Britain would be considerable.

"But we must not imagine that the enemy has not had his difficulties," he said. "We had proof of that the other day when facts were given to us as to the deteriorated physical quality of the German workers as a result of the blockade imposed by the British navy. The German workers have deteriorated that the output of Germany per man has gone down by something like 33 per cent., compared with the first year of the war.

"What are the prospects?" asked the Premier. "France's losses, no doubt, have been serious; despite reverses which Italy has endured their losses are not to be compared with those of Austria, and despite the losses inflicted on us, the permanent loss to the British army is not more than one-fourth or one-fifth the permanent losses endured by the Germans. If we take the reserve man power of the nations allied against Germany it will be found to be more than twice as great as that of Germany and her allies."

RUSSIA.

Since Russia had entered into separate negotiations, Mr. Lloyd George declared, she must be responsible for the protection of her own territory, and that also disposed of any question there was about Constantinople. He continued:

"We have conquered no country where the population belonged to the governing race. We have not acquired a single yard of territory where there is a German population. With regard to the captured German colonies, the peace conference must settle about them on the principle of respecting the desires of the people of those colonies themselves. We have laid that down, and we stand by it.

"We did not enter the war to annex a single yard of anybody's territory. We entered the war because we believed that the honor of Britain was involved in standing by her word."

CAUSE OF THE WAR.

The Premier declared that the war was forced upon the world by the arrogance of the military caste in Prussia, which, he added, "were prepared to overthrow their own ruler and set up another who was more in sympathy with their aims."

"Until that temper is broken there can never be peace in the world. That is why we say—whether it was President Wilson or Mr. Asquith—that victory was essential. It was not because it satisfied some low vindictive sense in the human nature merely to punish, but because we realized that victory was the only thing that could give reality to peace terms. A league of nations, in which Germany was represented by a military caste triumphant, would be a hollow farce. The people of Germany must be heard. That is why victory itself is more important than mere terms.

"Victory alone will give reality to the terms, and that is also the reason why the government, after mature reflection, decided to ask to be equipped with greater powers to enable us to increase the means we needed."

Luxburg Notes Reveal Teuton Plot to Align South America Against the United States.

Conspiracy.

THREE COUNTRIES ENTER A "PROTECTION" PACT.

President Irigoyen of Argentina is Induced to Sign Agreement with Bolivia and Chile.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Through a long series of telegrams exchanged between the notorious Count Luxburg, former German charge in Argentina, and the Berlin Foreign Office, the State Department tonight disclosed further facts about German diplomatic trickery and at the same time shed light upon some hitherto unexplained activities of certain Latin-American statesmen.

Luxburg, in one of his messages, dated August 1, last, reported that President Irigoyen of Argentina at last had made up his mind to conclude a secret agreement with Chile and Bolivia for protection against North America, "if the conference idea is taken up again."

CARRANZA'S GAME.

The "conference idea" is assumed to have been the plan for a Latin-American neutrality, strongly supported by President Carranza of Mexico, and much discussed in some of the South American countries, while the proposed secret agreement may explain reports that have come from Buenos Aires recently of President Irigoyen's proposals for a league of South American nations.

In Latin-American diplomatic quarters here it is regarded as certain that the disclosures will result very quickly in an Argentine declaration of war against Germany. Congress and a majority of the people favored this step when the American government made public the "spurlos versenkt" (sink without a trace) messages of Luxburg and it is believed that the President's opposition now will be swept away if it is not withdrawn.

AGREEMENT.

The messages given out today were made public by the State Department in agreement with the Argentina government, which in an accompanying statement by its Foreign Minister, says the "inaccuracies" of the German diplomat's reports are so surprising that the author will ask them. The messages were sent to Argentina soon after the State Department gave out the first series of intercepted telegrams, but heretofore demands for their publication have been in vain.

The first of Luxburg's intercepted telegrams were transmitted to Berlin by the Swedish legation at Buenos Aires, in its diplomatic code, and publication of that fact by Secretary Lansing not only threw Argentina into a turmoil, resulting in the dismissal of the chancellor, but precipitated a crisis in Sweden. No explanation is given of the means by which the latter messages were sent, though one or two of the telegrams in today's batch were among those given out previously. The famous "spurlos versenkt" message, in which Luxburg recommended avoiding difficulty with Argentina by sinking her ships without leaving a trace, however, does not appear at this time.

All of the correspondence was exchanged during July, August and early September, and most of it deals directly with the negotiations then in progress over the sinking of Argentine ships by German submarines. Before the messages fell into the hands of the American government Germany virtually had settled the question by agreeing to pay indemnity and to treat Argentine ships according to international law. The secret reports now reveal that Argentina, on its side, was to keep its ships out of danger by not allowing them to sail for the war zone, an easy task, in view of the fact that she had almost no shipping left.

Throughout the messages Luxburg dwells upon his differences with the Foreign Minister and upon his influence with the President. Finally he was conducting negotiations directly with the President, although the Foreign Minister's attitude made this troublesome. How far President Irigoyen's projects for an anti-North American alliance went, the correspondence does not develop. It merely says he made up his mind to conclude the agreement with Bolivia and Chile "a mutual rapprochemapt for protection vis-a-vis North America," being the purpose as described.

SOUTH AMERICAN POLICY.

In the concluding telegram of the series, however, Luxburg, addressing an unnamed person in Santiago, Chile, probably the German Minister there, says that as long as Chile is neutral, Germany after the war will be able to carry out her South American policy just as well, if not more easily, in opposition to an "infatuated and misguided Argentina, as with Argentina on her side." This apparently was written when the likelihood of the President holding out of the war appeared to be fading.

Minister Naon of Argentina declined tonight to make any comment upon the matter, further than to say that the statement of the Foreign Minister covered the situations. He was advised of the purpose of the United States and his government to make the messages public here and at Buenos Aires simultaneously.

FOR THE ARGENTINE.

Following is the statement of the Argentine Minister of Foreign Affairs given out with the Luxburg telegrams:

"The telegrams which appear below are all that the Argentine Ministry for Foreign Affairs received from the Embassy in Washington, of which the translations were made by the Department of State in the United States. There are three telegrams not published, as they allude solely to the republics of Chile and Uruguay. The government has decided that it should not publish these telegrams and has delivered them to the respective Chancelleries.

"The telegrams show a number of inaccuracies so surprising that no epithet will fit them, as they are at complete variance, both in substance and form, with the terms in which the negotiations were entered into, carried on and brought to a conclusion."

The German charge's messages were sent during last July, August and September. All are addressed to Berlin and signed "Luxburg." Following are the texts in the order in which they were made public:

"No. 62. July 7 or 8, 1917.

"Minister of Foreign Affairs, who is a theatrical person, has shown an insane cunning in preventing me from having an interview with the President. He sent me a copy of the note and declared in accordance therewith that Argentine could not consent to all the products of the country being treated as contraband.

"The pressure of North America in regard to shipping iron, coal and paper is great, but not irresistible. What is lacking is strength of will.

"If the President, whose action it is impossible to foretell, changes ministers a postponement of the crisis or a settlement is possible.

"If the answer is unsatisfactory there is to be a rupture of relations."

"No. 63. July 7, 1917.

"Our attitude toward Brazil has created the impression here that our easy-going good nature can be counted on. This is dangerous in South America, where the people under thin veneer are Indians. A submarine squadron with full powers to act might probably still save the situation. I request instructions as to whether after a rupture of relations the legation is to start for home or to remove to Paraguay, or possibly Chile. The naval attache will doubtless go to Santiago de Chile."

"No. 67. July 16, 1917.

"President in the course of a long interview protested his friendship for Germany and firm intention for neutrality in spite of severe pressure. He demanded forbearance for all ships, about six in number, preceding to the war zone, but conceded that contraband on board might be destroyed. He stated that it is a fact that there are no more ships available. He regretted the possibility of rupture. Am reporting further."

"No. 69. July 13, 1917.

Prospect excellent for wheat harvest in December."

He is conscious that there have been errors in the past and has firm intention of adhering to neutrality and it is asserted that all pending conflicts may be settled on loyal broad lines on a basis of mutual confidence. He recommends that an early settlement should be arrived at. First, instead of there being a protocol Argentine ships should on the one hand tacitly be spared and on the other be prevented from going to sea. As a matter of fact, the use of the Argentine flag has latterly been refused repeatedly, moreover, shipbuilding material is exhausted. Continuation follows."

There should be assurance that Argentine ships will not be harmed and that freedom of movement will be allowed them in accordance with international law. As regards Toro indemnity there should be same procedure as in the case of the Monte Protegido, but ship's value should only come in so far as it is not covered by insurance. The President deserves confidence."

Instructions are being issued accordingly. As it is not absolutely certain that information can be given in time, compensation is agreed to in case a ship is unintentionally sunk. Argentine promises that in future her ships will keep away from the blockade area. Argentine ships are to remain unharmed if they neither carry contraband nor undertake any hostile enterprise. I authorize you to sign a protocol in accordance with this. If the palliative (paragraph?) above referred to cannot be obtained you should declare to the President verbally that the imperial government, in full appreciation of the value of the continuance of the historic friendship between the countries, entertains a well-founded confidence that incidents productive of harm to Argentine ships will not occur again in the future. Very secret, for your personal information. Argentine ships will be treated with forbearance as far as they can be recognized. The shortage of coal is now making itself acutely felt in many of our large cities where the supply is from hand to mouth. The heavy snow falls have stalled the trains and tied up coal barges with the precious "Black Diamonds." The city authorities are endeavoring to relieve the situation by selling to the poor at reasonable prices, bags of coal which are taken away by the purchasers. Women and children of all ages can be seen standing in the long lines waiting their turn at the depots, to purchase their day's supply.

GERMANY'S NEW PEACE TERMS ARE OUTLINED

Wants England to Pay for Teuton Colonies Lost in Africa, Money to be Spent in Rebuilding Belgium.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—What purports to be an outline of the Kaiser's much-advertised "Christmas peace terms" has been received through neutral diplomatic channels.

The so-called terms include the following:

To leave the disposition of Alsace-Lorraine to a plebiscite of inhabitants.

England to pay Germany for her lost African colonies and the money to be used for the rehabilitation of Belgium, Serbia, Rumania and Northern France.

Russian provinces bordering the Baltic Sea, the Black Sea and Prussia to become independent under a German plan.

Poland to be called an independent state under Austrian suserainty.

Disarmament, freedom of the seas and commerce to be left to the peace conference.

Rumania, Serbia and Montenegro to retain their original boundaries with the right of access to the sea being granted to Serbia.

Turkey to remain intact.

Whether such a proposal of terms is merely another step in the German propaganda to impress the public mind that the Allies are responsible for a continuance of the war, or whether it is really a feeler for peace, is a subject for the estimate of the governments concerned.

At first glance some are inclined to regard these conditions as the Kaiser's much-advertised Christmas peace terms, probably designed in large part to keep the German people under the illusion that they are fighting a really defensive war against foes who are insistent on the dismemberment of their country.

There is a very decided impression in competent quarters, however, that Germany, having gained great advantages in Russia, might think it to her advantage to yield to Allied demands in many other directions, which, in the estimate of her own statesmen, would strike a balance. This is one of the reasons why some close observers believe an offer of peace coming at this time probably has more real intentions of peace behind it than the previous ones.

No one here believes Germany's best terms would be put on the table at the first offering, and those inclined to this view think a proposal of peace at least now is an attempt to start a discussion of terms.

From what may be gained of the war aims of the Allied governments as expressed by their statesmen and by President Wilson, such an offering of terms as outlined in the foregoing could not be considered as the basis of a satisfactory peace, although it might contain some of the elements.

—What ence with the Russians, held yes- tine of day, announced that their gover- ertised ments intended on principle to p been the question of peace before all matic Powers and that they had asked their allies to do likewise. Russia was requested to take similar step. It is stated the Russians are en- deavoring by all means to assist the Allies.

The Germans were of the opinion that the Russian armistice might influence the situation at the fronts.

The first conference was devoted merely to a discussion of who would participate in the negotiations.

NEGOTIATING PEACE.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Tuesday, Dec. 18.— Peace negotiations between Russia and the Central Powers, an armistice having been reached, are assuming an aspect of importance. Dr. Richard Kuehlmann, the German Foreign Secretary, and Count Czernin, the Austro-Hungarian Foreign Minister, are both said to be on their way to Brest-Litovsk, being accompanied by advisory suites from various govern- ment departments. It is also an- nounced from Berlin that the Central Committee of the Reichstag will be summoned to meet in special ses- sion in connection with these ne- gotiations, and some German news- papers interpret this as showing that the will of the people's representa- tives is about to assert itself.

Another result of the armistice is that Ensign Krylenko, the Bolshe- viki commander-in-chief, has been able to move divisions from the northern front against Gen. Kale- dines, who is reported to be gaining new successes. There is no official confirmation of the report that Former Premier Kerensky is in the vicinity of Petrograd with an army.

Meanwhile the Bolsheviki administration is adopting drastic methods against its opponents, including the reinstatement of the death penalty.

A dispatch from Tammerfors, Fin- land, says that the Russian troops are preparing to evacuate Finland, the transportation already having been arranged.

n Government Seems Deeply Interested.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CO CITY, Dec. 20.—According to official information today, close and unheralded departure Washington of Luis Ca- Mexican Finance Minister, who was engaged in negotia- relating to freer importation silver and gold to Mexico the United States, was due to fact that he was under definite order to go to Buenos Aires conference of neutral Latin- American nations. He is president Mexican delegations to Buenos Aires before going to Washing- ton, ordered to carry on nego- tiations there only in event they were completed in time to enable him to attend the Latin-American conference.

Departure of Senor Cabrera is of importance attached by Mexican government to the de- cisions at Buenos Aires. It is stated semi-officially that the declarations of several Latin- American nations for the Entente Allies will result in a change from their original purpose, which was to unite Latin America for neutrali- ty in view of the growing senti- ment in favor of the Entente, it is said possible the conference may unite in a declaration of armed neutrality in favor of the Entente.

CONTROL RAILWAYS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20. — The government has no inten- tion of abandoning its control of the railway lines exercised by ownership of a majority of stock, but it may later retire from active management of the roads seized during the last revo- lution. This was announced today by the Mexican News Bureau in ex- plaining that while the stockholders whose interested may decide on additional bonded indebted- ness in order to rehabilitate the sys- tem, it would not affect govern- ment control.

How difficulties arose, how- ever, and the general was arrested at the frontier at Constance. It is now stated that Gen. Leman, who is seriously ill, declined last week to accept a German offer of safe conduct to come to Switzerland and that it was made on the ground of his health and age. The gen- eral, however, he did not wish to admit that he did not wish to fight for his country.

Washington.

WOODEN SHIPS ARE NOT TABOO.

Check Placed on Steel and Passenger Craft.

Board Issues Statement Re- garding Restrictions.

Building of New Yards not to be Encouraged.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—In a definite statement of policy, the Shipping Board announced today that it would not discourage con- struction of wooden ships for pri- vate account, where their building would not interfere with the govern- ment programme. Permission will be continued to be refused for con- struction of steel ships and passen- ger ships.

In granting permission for pri- vate construction of wooden ships the board will give preference to American owners. Private building of barges and tugs will be encour- aged in every way possible.

The statement, issued on the eve of the inquiry into the progress of the government shipbuilding pro- gramme by the Senate Commerce Commission, which is expected to in- quire among other things into re- ports that the board unnecessarily blocked construction for private ac- count, sets forth:

"That the board will not en- courage construction of steel ships for private account because of the necessity for devoting all steel build- ing resources to the government to the programme.

"That the board will encourage the construction for American in- terests of tugs and barges for use on the coasts and on inland water- ways.

"That the board has no intention of discouraging the construction of wooden ships where their building does not interfere with the govern- ment programme. Where permis- sion is given for wooden construc- tion preference will be given to American owners.

"The building of new shipyards generally will not be encouraged.

"The shipbuilding facilities of the country having been largely in- creased by the board within the last six months," says the announcement. "It will be the policy of the board hereafter to devote itself to the ex- pansion of these new yards and the old yards rather than to the crea- tion of any further new yards un- less it is found necessary to do so."

Proposals without number for the building of ships of private ac- count have been turned down by the board on the ground that a large amount of private construction would disrupt labor conditions, and interfere seriously with the board's flow of materials to yards engaged on government work. Many of the proposals came from representatives of foreign governments.

SUSPECTS MOTHER AND SON OF KILLING BOY.

UNNATURAL CASE IN COLORADO EVOKES SERIOUS CHARGES BY CORONER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MONTROSE (Colo.) Dec. 20.— While feeling against him ran high in this community tonight, posses of farmers, cowboys and deputy sher- iffs continued to scour the canyons running up into the Uncompahgre Plateau in hope of finding John C. Bush, accused of killing his 11-year- old son, Ira, and dismembering the body.

Meanwhile, Bush's mother, Mrs. J. I. Bush, is in the County Jail at Delta, where today she repudi- ated a statement given a Coroner's jury that she killed her missing son.

In a talk with Undersheriff Beatty in the jail, Mrs. J. H. Bush an- nounced that her son is alive and will return within three weeks.

The Coroner's verdict held that Ira Bush, the boy, met death from an ax at the hands of his father, J. O. Bush, and that his grand- mother, Mrs. Bush, was an accom- plice.

Mrs. Bush said the story she had told the officers when they first be- gan investigating the death of her grandson was true, that is, that her son accidentally killed the little boy while punishing him, and that she was forced to aid in disposing of the body.

At Camp Lewis.

ALLOW SOLDIERS TO VISIT ONLY INSPECTED PLACES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CAMP LEWIS, Dec. 20.—General order No. 68 issued at Camp Lewis this afternoon read: "Sol- diers of this camp will not patronize any restaurant, hotel, booth for sale of food, barber shop, manicure par- lor, ice cream parlor, or soda wa- ter establishment unless same shall have a certificate of inspection."

Federal officers to inspect such places of business and issue certifi- cates soon will be here. The certifi- cates may be revoked by the Federal officers or by the division surgeon. Military police will enforce the or- der.

No class A soldiers at Camp Lewis will be allowed to go farther from the cantonment than a radius of twenty miles without special permis- sion, according to an announcement made at the camp today. Class A men are those whose conduct has given them the first-class privileges. Class B and C men do not get long enough leaves to go farther than twenty miles from the camp.

Under the new regulations, sol- diers will be permitted to visit Ta- coma and Olympia, but they cannot visit Centralia, or Seattle, even if the ban against that city is lifted, unless they obtain special permission from their commanding officers. It is said the new regulations are made to in- crease efficiency at the camp.

Maj. Eugene R. West, Judge Ad- vocate, is expected to report at Camp Lewis for duty within a few days.

Maj. Calvin S. White, M.R.C., has been ordered to report to the divi- sion surgeon at Camp Lewis to su- pervise hygiene instruction at the camp.

Maj. James Como, camp quarter- master, today received an appoint- ment from Washington, D. C., add- ing to his duties by making him con- structing quartermaster. With the assistance of Maj. John Coffee Hays, he will have charge of constructing new buildings to cost $300,000, and of finishing $150,000 worth of build- ings.

Men seeking service in the avia- tion section enlisted personnel may volunteer only through local boards.

LARGE QUANTITY OF MEAT AND SUGAR SAVED ON RAILWAY LINES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

"These savings are the more re- markable," says a Food Administra- tion statement, "for the reason that they were made despite an increase of 20 per cent. in the number of persons fed in dining cars in Octo- ber and November, 1917, as com- pared with the corresponding two months of the previous year."

MEXICO ASKS RETURNS FOR EXPORTATIONS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 20.—Rafael Nieto, Undersecretary for Finance, told the Associated Press yesterday that there were no restrictions against the exportation of minerals from Mexico, but that it was im- possible for Mexico to permit the exportation of her resources with- out any return.

The Undersecretary referred to the recent decree declaring that 25 per cent. of the silver and gold ex- ported from Mexico must be reim- ported in gold bars or gold coin, but said this would not be insisted on if Mexico could get gold from the United States without restriction. He added that there was no restric- tion on the export of other metals, especially copper, which, he said, could be exported in any quantity under the payment of a 5 per cent. export tax.

LONDON, Dec. 20.—One of the secret diplomatic documents published by the Bolsheviki, as reported in a Petrograd dispatch to the Manchester Guardian, is a message from M. Krupensky, Russian Ambassador at Tokio, concerning the conclusion of the Japanese-American agreement in regard to China. The Ambassador said he asked a Japanese official whether it was not possible that there would be a "misunderstanding over the "special interest" of Japanese in China. This official replied, according to the dispatch, that he considered this a possibility, but believed Japan had better means of insisting on her interpretation than did America.

Ex-German Consul Testifies at Conspiracy Trial.

Teuton Who Pleaded Guilty Called as Witness.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 20.—George Rodiek, former German consul at Honolulu, who pleaded guilty recently to a charge of conspiracy to foment revolution against British rule in India, took the stand today as a surprise prosecution witness against thirty-one persons on trial on the conspiracy charge in United States District Court. John W. Preston announced his call to calling Rodiek to the stand. Rodiek had asked permission to make a statement to the jury and permission had been granted, Preston said, on condition that he testify. He will include a statement in his testimony. Preston said.

Rodiek, formerly in business in Honolulu, occasioned a sensation in court recently when he pleaded guilty to the conspiracy charge, together with H. A. Schroeder, who had been secretary of the German Consulate at Honolulu. They pleaded guilty, they said, to a "technical" violation of the neutrality laws of the United States, but asserted that they had acted in ignorance of the wrong. Lieut. Wilhelm von Brincken, former military attache of the German Consulate-General, also pleaded guilty at the same time.

TROOPS IN REVOLT.

Small units of native troops in Penang on the Malay peninsula were induced to turn against the British by revolutionists in this country, according to testimony adduced today. This testimony was supplied by Nawab Khan, a Mohammedan Hindu, who also said that unsuccessful effort was made to induce large Indian units turn on their officers at Rangoon, Burma, and declare allegiance to the cause of the revolution.

Nawab said he testified against the British government in favor of Ram Lahore, India, and also at another in Burma which resulted in the execution of many Hindu revolutionists and the deportation of others. He said that one of those he testified against was Jawala Singh, a donor of five scholarships for Indian students at the University of California, who is now serving a sentence in Singapore for his activities.

Nawab admitted that all of the expenses of his participation in the present trial are being met by the British government. He declared that he acted as a British agent while attending revolutionary meetings in Astoria, Or., and Seattle, Wash., where he was addressed by Bhagwan Singh and Ram Chandra, two of the defendants now on trial.

Nawab reiterated his statement that Har Dyal, who had been an unsalaried lecturer on philosophy at Stanford University, not a professor as had been reported previously, was one of the trustees of the fund from which scholarships were awarded annually to five young Hindus for American universities to enable them to prepare themselves for leadership in the movement for which Dyal was deported. Dyal was dismissed from the university some time after his appointment.

San Francisco Woman Has Right to the Used and Deceased Husband.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 20.—A wife has the right to sell her husband's phone number and good will of the business after the husband's death, according to a ruling handed down by Superior Judge John F. Sahl, said to be without precedent in this State.

The decision was rendered in a case where one doctor who had purchased from a widow the use of the name, good will and phone number of her husband, brought action against another member of the profession, who, it was charged, had endeavored to have his own name and number listed in the same office as those by your company, ceased.

COMPANY FORMED.

Under these circumstances it might best to form a new company which would be controlled by the packers and in that way give the pecuniary interest in your business which would make it worthwhile for them to turn all possible business over to the company. To form the new company, committees of the packers, have agreed with stockholders of the Chicago Junction Railways and the Union Stockyards Company accept the proposition to guarantee a 6 per cent. dividend on the stock, which is now paying 4 per cent, or to give $200 in 5 per cent. bonds for each share of stock, which amounts to 10 per cent. on the stock."

Many of the packers in the Chicago stockyards extended also to Kansas City, according to E. V. Hartford, president of the Chase National Bank of New York, who said he represented one of the packers who was not a part of the yards there, but that others did not. He did not name the packer.

Commissioner Murdock declared "time" had been cut in half by the new company. Mr. Murdock said he would be able to show a big surplus of the junction company amounting to more than $1,000,000 on a capitalization of $6,000,000, which actually had been paid out.

PLAN TO DEPRESS STOCK.

Mr. Heney announced that the commission was in possession of a letter from Prince to Armour, suggesting that if they were not able to get all the stock of the Chicago Junction Railways Company, it could be obtained by depressing the price after they had obtained control. One way of depressing the stock suggested was a decrease in dividends on Junction stock.

Estimate of $6,000,000 as the amount paid to the packers by the railroads and terminal railway companies to induce them to locate in Chicago was made in a letter dated August 18, 1911, and signed

PRODIGIOUS VOLUME OF ADVERTISING IN LOS ANGELES

A prodigious volume of newspaper advertising space is sold each week in this city; in fact, a wonderfully large amount is employed in one day. For example, on December 13 the total volume of advertising printed in the city's newspapers aggregated [illegible] inches.

Nearly one-half of the newspaper advertising printed on the date stated was published in The Times—ample proof of the confidence of thousands of advertisers in the sterling quality of The Times' circulation.

The following tabulated statement contains the number of inches of newspaper advertising printed in Los Angeles last Sunday:

	Inches
THE TIMES	14,420
Second newspaper	4,416
Third newspaper	3,661

The "want-ad" columns of last Sunday's paper also were generally patronized. The Times, as usual, led the list, as follows:

SPOOR ENTERS DENIAL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—John A. Spoor, chairman of the board of directors of the Union Stock Yards and Transit Company and of the Chicago Junction Railway, today said:

"If the reports correctly state the evidence which was given before the Federal Trade Commission today, it states something of which I am ignorant. Neither Mr. Armour nor any other packer has any stock in the Union Stock Yards and Transit Company of Chicago, or in the Chicago Junction Railway Company nor are they in any way concerned in the management.

"The stock in the two local companies is controlled by a New Jersey holding company. I am a director of that company and neither Mr. Armour nor any of the packers have any representatives on the board of control. Neither do they own or control its capital stock. If they are members of any syndicate, such as has been described in the press reports, I have no knowledge of it. They certainly do not control, interfere with or manage in any way whatsoever the policies of the two companies of which I am the head."

PRESIDENT OF SOUTHERN PACIFIC GIVES VIEWS OF FEDERAL CONTROL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 20.—Public ownership of railroads, if it embraced one national system of lines, would work toward a great reduction of maintenance and other expenses, but would also cause a loss in the present efficiency of the carriers, according to testimony today by William Sproule, president of the Southern Pacific Company, before the State Railroad Commission.

Sproule's opinion was expressed in reply to a question asked by George Bradley of the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce, at the hearing conducted by the commission in an effort to effect economies and increase service that might be rendered the government and State by the railroads of California.

Sproule also testified in answer to reiterated charges that his company had never attempted to co-ordinate with other transportation concerns, as had been requested by the Railroad War Board.

Sproule said that in the light of the volume of traffic and general business conditions, no abnormal situation has arisen yet to necessitate the co-ordination with other railroads. Instead of reducing the number of passenger trains, as had been asked by the War Board, Sproule said the Southern Pacific had increased the number of local trains in order to obtain better service from through trains.

"The car supply is the keynote of any difficulties that may arise," Sproule said. "The Southern Pacific has not reached the limit of its freight capacity, but we could obtain more freight than we could handle. Thus far the Southern Pacific has supplied terminals in advance of the need. By educating shippers to load cars to capacity we have increased the carloads greatly and we have also obtained a better locomotive ton-load service.

The keels of two similar vessels are to be laid this month. The programme of the private corporation building the ships calls for the completion of 150 of the cargo boats in the least possible time. The yards where this work is being done are so arranged that twenty-eight of the vessels soon will be under construction at the same time.

In addition, the witness, long a power in the underworld, shed light on some cryptic parts of telephone conversations intercepted by the State's attorney's detectives.

One sentence in which reference was made to "five stories" was nonchalantly explained by Costello saying "five stories means $500."

Lists of vice haunts and gambling places which were protected were identified by the witness.

Hurried Buying at DAVIDSON'S

The other day a stranger walked into our store and laid one hundred dollars on the counter, saying: "I don't know a thing about diamonds, but I do know I'm safe here, so pick me out the best engagement ring you have at that price."

FARM BUREAU'S NEED IS URGED.

Supervisors Asked to Make an Appropriation

Many Civic Bodies Back Work as War Necessity.

But Two Counties of State Now Unorganized.

Necessity of the Board of Supervisors providing for the expenses of a farm adviser and five assistants for the 7906 farmers of Los Angeles county was strongly urged in the board at a meeting of experts and farmers yesterday. The estimated expense is $7500 a year, but in view of the fact that the county has an office and can supply automobiles, the approximated expense will be only about $3500 until July 1 next, the end of the fiscal year. The Supervisors took the matter under advisement, expressing the opinion that the plan is a good one.

Los Angeles and Santa Barbara counties are now the only counties in the State not provided with a farm adviser and assistants. Secretary Wiggins of the Chamber of Commerce stated that the chamber is heartily in favor of the proposition, and in fact, is seriously considering having a farm adviser of its own.

The farm adviser, it was pointed out, has been recognized by the Federal government and his activities extended to all parts of the country. If this county falls into line, as it is expected it will, bureaus will be established for instant co-operation with the farmers. The proposition has the indorsement of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, the Pomona Chamber of Commerce, the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, the women's committee of the State and National Councils of Defense, the Federation of Women's clubs, the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Gabriel Valley and Azusa Farm Bureau Center, the Associated Civic Clubs of the Gardena Valley, the Citrus Fruit Growers' Exchange, the Los Angeles Realty Board, the Los Angeles Produce Exchange, the Farm Bureau and the County Horticultural Commission and the farmers representing the Farm Bureau Centers. There are twenty-two of these at present. Azusa, Glendale, Burbank, Montebello and several other places are in process of organizing bureaus.

The principal speakers yesterday were Senator P. F. Cogswell, president of the Los Angeles Farm Bureau; Dr. H. J. Webber, director of the Citrus Experiment Station, Riverside; who also represented the College of Agriculture, University of California; Presiding Judge Craig, who gave an explanation of the Farm Bureau as a war measure, and Walter S. Packard, of the University of California, who is in charge of farm work.

Accident.

THIRTY-EIGHT DIE IN WRECK.

Passenger Trains Collide in State of Kentucky.

Many Persons are Injured in the Crash.

Locomotive Demolishes Two Wooden Coaches.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SHEPHERDSVILLE (Ky.) Dec. 20.—Thirty-eight known dead and thirty-nine persons injured, some of them seriously, was the toll taken when Louisville and Nashville passenger train No. 7 from Cincinnati to New Orleans early tonight crashed into the rear of a Bardstown, Louisville and Springfield accommodation train 500 yards south of the station here.

The accommodation train had just left the station after making a stop, when the faster train, which makes no stop here, came in sight moving at a high rate of speed. Efforts to bring it to a stop were futile, and the locomotive, with the weight of a heavy steel train behind it, crashed into the rear of the accommodation train with a terrific impact. Two wooden passenger coaches and baggage car, making up the small train, were splintered.

Virtually every person aboard the accommodation train, both crew and passengers, was either killed or badly injured. None of the passengers aboard the fast train was killed, though a number were injured. The locomotive was demolished and the heavy steel coaches making up the train were thrown from the track.

A relief train was made up at Louisville and rushed here with physicians and nurses. By the time it arrived most of the injured and the bodies of the dead had been removed from the wreckage by volunteers. Within a short time this work was completed and the train was started back to Louisville with a clear right of way, taking the injured to hospitals there.

JAILED ON MURDER CHARGE AT DOUGLAS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Dec. 20.—Charged with murdering an automobile driver named Johnson on a lonely road between Bisbee and Douglas, Ariz., Charles Barr, alleged member of the California-Arizona murder crew, is in jail at Douglas, a telegram to officers here said tonight.

Barr was sought by Sheriff J. L. McMinn, as a pal of Elmer C. Scott, who is alleged to have killed Claude C. Chapman of Los Angeles on a lonely desert road, and officers have charged the crew killed many others, a number of whose bodies were found hid in isolated spots on the desert of this county.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SOLDIERS' HOME, Dec. 19.—The Red Cross drive is on at the Soldiers' Home. A number of ladies from Sawtelle, connected with the Los Angeles chapter, and mostly members of one or the other women's auxiliaries of patriotic orders in the Home, invaded the camp today, set up Red Cross booths, and began their labors of enrolling veterans in the grand cause. Pensioners are awaiting arrival of the "big check" from Washington, now due, and which will enable them to do their bit in the grandest humanitarian cause ever undertaken. It is the general expressed hope, that results at the wind-up of the drive, will be of an amount to reflect credit to the generosity and patriotic spirit of veterans in the Pacific Branch of Soldiers' Home.

A number of changes in office have recently taken place here, of which the more important are as follows:

L. S. Carter, after an absence on leave for several months, has been reappointed as clerk in the treasurer's office, vice Strange, transfered. Capt. E. H. Phelps is appointed clerk in the quartermaster's office, vice Pere Holman, who was called to the colors at American Lake—sergeant in the United States Signal Corps. Emil Johnson, formerly of the Fourth United States Artillery, is appointed clothing clerk in the quartermaster's department, vice Drury, resigned. Henry Strange, transferred from treasurer's office to the quartermaster's department, as chief clerk in commissary supply storehouse, vice Ten Eyck, resigned.

CACHE OF UNTAXED WHISKY IS SEIZED.

REVENUE AGENTS FIND BOOZE BURIED IN FIELD AND HIDDEN IN CAVE.

After an all-night search of the country north of San Fernando, C. C. White of the Internal Revenue Service, George Giovanola, of the same service, and Stephen Gavin, division deputy, returned to the city yesterday with thirty-three cases of whisky. It is of the finest kind, properly aged, and each case contains twelve large bottles of the stuff that intoxicates.

It is claimed that the wet goods were found on the premises of George Olivera, who lives on a ranch about thirty-one miles north of Los Angeles. Some of it was buried in a field, it is claimed, some in a cave dug out of the side of a mountain, and still more of it in the hay barn on the premises of Olivera. No arrests were made.

One of the features of the case is that the officers were looking for some other contraband at the time and had no idea of the presence of the whisky on the Olivera ranch. While no names are given out by Collector Carter regarding the ownership of the spirits, it is understood that a well-known West First street saloon man will be asked to explain today.

Internal Revenue Deputy A. Cornelius yesterday took possession of a stock of champagne and fine imported wine at the Lodge Cafe, Seal Beach, the property of the estate of H. G. Roach of this city. It had not been inventoried as provided by law, it is claimed. It is locked up awaiting the action of the Federal officials. There was a lot of whisky in the place, but a colored watchman has been in charge of the premises for some time, and the whisky disappeared, it is claimed.

BENEFIT FLOWER SALE.

Money from Affair at Athletic Club will be Sent to Suffering Belgians.

The Athletic Club flower shop will furnish an inviting setting for Mrs. Willoughby Rodman and her committee, who will sell Christmas wreaths and greens and fancy work tomorrow for the benefit of the Belgian relief fund.

In the afternoon society girls, all members of the Junior Patriotic League, will serve tea and quite a number of society matrons have asked friends to join them at their tea tables for tidbits and a cup of Russian or Chinese tea.

It is interesting to know that the Belgian relief is the oldest relief committee in California, and since its organization by Mrs. Rodman at the very beginning of the European war has done a wonderful work. This committee sends regularly $1000 a month to Belgium for relief work.

Among those who will entertain at tea Saturday at the flower shop are Mmes. Secondo Guasti, William J. Dorsin, Paul A. Jeaberg, G. Wiley Wells, Morris Albee, Frank Gibson, George Hugenot, Norman McBeth, John Trainer, Homer Laughlin, Jr., Bagley, Miss Florence Brown, Miss Eva Roberts and the ladies of the Catholic Woman's Club.

APPOINTMENT MADE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

WHITTIER, Dec. 20.—Gov. Stephens today appointed O. H. Barr of this city as a member of the Board of Managers of the Norwalk State Asylum, Norwalk, Cal., to succeed the late S. L. Butler, who died about one year ago. The appointment is very popular here as Mr. Barr is one of the city's highly esteemed citizens.

WARN REGISTRANTS.

Questionnaires Must be Returned Within Seven Days After They are Received.

Warning registrants that the questionnaires which they receive from their local exemption boards must be returned to the boards within seven days after they are received, is the gist of a notice being sent to the headquarters of the local boards.

Twenty-five hundred questionnaires are being mailed out every day, starting on December 15 and continuing until January 5. It is suggested that registrants examine the postmark on the envelope which they receive and see that they return the document before seven days have expired.

Embraced in the announcement is another plea for attorneys who will volunteer their services to assist registrants in preparing their questionnaires. It is pointed out that this is the first time that attorneys have been called upon to do their bit. Those lawyers who can help in this work are asked to get in communication with the legal advisory board at room 502, Chamber of Commerce Building.

SPIRITS DON'T WORK.

Evidence in Divorce Suit Shows Woman Lost Big Sum on Mysterious Advice.

Mrs. Sara E. C. Kelly was granted a divorce from Seth Foster Kelly, former Seattle banker, by Judge Wood yesterday. The charge was desertion. Mr. Kelly was in court to protect his property interests, one of the issues of the suit. The court awarded Mrs. Kelly $45 a month alimony, $575 and an insurance policy. The testimony developed the fact that when the couple first separated some time ago, the property was divided and Mrs. Kelly received her share of the value of $40,000.

Her brother made the statement in court that his sister had risked $10,000 of this in an enterprise on the advice of Spiritualists and lost it. She consulted another Spiritualist with the view of recovering the investment and it cost her an additional $5000. Mr. Kelly declared that his wife had divested herself of the bulk of the property settlement.

It also appeared that Mrs. Kelly had brought suit against her husband in Seattle and got judgment for $16,000. The judgment was subsequently vacated.

RUSSIAN CIVIL WAR SPREAD

Maximalists and Cossacks in Fierce Struggle.

Heliodorus, the "Mad Monk," Heads New Revolt.

All Factions are Hampered by Artillery Shortage.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. & C.]

LONDON (Wednesday, Dec. 19.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Haparanda reports that Kerensky with an army is marching against Moscow and Grand Duke Nicholas has gathered a great army of Russians in the Caucasus.

LONDON, Wednesday, Dec. 19.—Dispatches from Petrograd indicate that the struggle between Bolsheviki and Cossacks and the Maximalists in southern Russia is increasing in intensity. The correspondent at Petrograd of Reuter's, telegraphing under date of Tuesday, says the flame of civil war is spreading northward along the Volga River from Astrakhan to Samara.

The Maximalists are said to have many machine guns, but are poorly supplied with cannon. The Cossacks are reported to be equipped with modern field guns.

An extraordinary state of affairs is depicted at Tsaritzyn, in the province of Samara, where the Maximalists near the Caspian Sea have gained the mastery, but are hemmed in by the forces of Bolsheviki. The bot of Tsaritzyn and Hieromonk Iliodore, the mad monk," who is leading the fight against them, is reported to be winning over this people."

Orenburg Cossacks, commanded by Gen. Dutoff, are advancing on Samara, the Maximalist position en route being disputed, but they have occupied all the northern part of the province of Voronezh, which is in South Central Russia.

AT ODESSA.

Fighting continues at Odessa, where Ukrainians have captured the arsenal and the telegraph and telephone stations. The Bolsheviki later repeatedly shelled the city before finally recapturing it by the action of the Ukrainians. The Bolsheviki hold the part, while the Ukrainians shelled with their heavy artillery in response to a bombardment of the town by naval guns. Ukrainians are dismissed from the Bolshevik forces, thus removing the Maximalist menace in the provinces of Kiev and Podolia, about 100 miles east of Odessa.

The Ukraine Council has issued a message to Russia, claiming a Ukraine democracy, public to form part of an all-Federal republic. During the meeting of the Ukrainian National Assembly in January, the Bolsheviki message recognizing the principle of expropriation without indemnity of private lands, mines, factories and some church lands for the benefit of the laboring classes.

In the opposing forces of peace, Russian soldiers in large numbers are leaving the battle front. Urgent telegrams have been received from Petrograd by the forcement, the soldiers being called the best conscripts. Dr. Petrofsky, a former professor at Moscow University, has been appointed by the Bolshevik government to conduct peace questions with the Germans at Brest-Litovsk.

According to the Russian news agency, Ananieff, a member of the Ukrainian Council of Workmen's Soldiers' Delegates, has arrived at Kharkov and received the support of the Rada as a bourgeois and counter-revolutionary institution and its leaders as traitors.

ULTIMATUM.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. & C.]

LONDON, Tuesday, Dec. 18.—The Bolsheviki government of Petrograd, it is said, has issued an ultimatum to the Ukrainian Rada demanding that within forty-eight hours a decision be reached whether the Ukraine will remain in the Russian federation under Kaledines, or separate from it, while forbidding passage of Bolsheviki government troops, whether it will or will not permit troops in the Ukraine to proceed to the front. In case of refusal, the Rada will be considered at war with the Council of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates.

The Ukrainian Rada also has declared that the Bolsheviki government has been established as the result of a successful revolution of the proletariat early in November. The ultimatum referred to probably is the one recently made by the Bolsheviki government to the Rada permit its troops to pass through the Ukraine to aid in putting down the Kaledines revolt.

The Ukraine, which is on the Austrian frontier, is part of the old kingdom of Poland. It is made up of the governments of Podolia, Volhynia, Kholm, Kherson, Ekaterinoslav and a combined area of about 200,000 square miles and a population of about 25,000,000.

COSSACKS SEIZE ARMS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. & C.]

PETROGRAD, Wednesday, Dec. 19. — Orenburg Cossacks, under the Bolsheviki have seized the arsenal, ammunition and other military stores at Orenburg, according to a report received by the Cossack Council here.

The Bolsheviki government a few weeks ago ordered the Cossacks to disarm and disband, but the Cossacks refused, declaring that the Bolsheviki government was illegal. Orenburg is the capital of the province of the same name and has a population of 369,000. It is 135 miles west of the Ural River and 1200 miles southeast of Moscow. The province is famous for its fisheries, which are said to be the richest in Russia. It is also a great agricultural region and is traversed by railroads from the Volga to Siberia and Kazakstan.

Never Surrender Your Home To Invading Disease Germs

Disease germs are constantly invading every home, even the cleanest home. They enter as dust does, invisibly. They breed in cracks in the floor, in sunless corners, in garbage cans, around damp pipes, in kitchen sinks.

Scrubbing with ordinary soap and water does not kill them, does not stop their breeding an assault against the health of your household. If you do not take scientific precautions against disease germs living and breeding in your home, you are surrendering your family to their mercy.

Lysol Disinfectant

This is the disinfectant used in the most scientifically conducted hospitals. It kills all germs on the instant of contact. Lysol is absolutely dependable and economical for guarding your home. A 50c bottle makes five gallons of germ-exterminating solution; a 25c bottle makes two gallons.

Only one True Lysol—that made, bottled, signed and sealed by Lehn & Fink. Sold everywhere in 25c, 50c, and $1.00 bottles.

Lysol is invaluable for personal hygiene.

Lysol Toilet Soap
Contains Lysol, and therefore protects the skin from germ infection. It is refreshingly soothing and healing and helpful for improving the skin. Ask your dealer. If he hasn't got it, ask him to order it for you.

Lysol Shaving Cream
Contains Lysol, and kills germs on razor and shaving-brush (where germs abound), guards the tiny cuts from infection, and gives the antiseptic shave. If your dealer hasn't got it, ask him to order a supply for you.

BELATED STATEMENT.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

ROME, Tuesday, Dec. 18.—The Italian War Office today issued the following statement:

"Yesterday, the seventh day of the battle between the Brenta and the Piave, the enemy concentrated his efforts almost exclusively on the Monte Solarolo salient. At 11 a.m., after several hours of the most violent fire extending from the Col dell'Orso to Porte di Salton, columns of infantry from the northeast and the north were launched against our position.

"The former which advanced from the southeastern slope of Monte Spinocci, was caught by fire from our artillery and from French batteries. It was forced to stop and give up the attack before getting in contact with our lines.

"The latter, consisting of a whole division of German troops, preceded by assault detachments, made a direct and decided thrust against Monte Solarolo and the northern slope at the head of the Calcino Valley. Our troops put up a most stubborn resistance and the enemy, after a desperate struggle, being badly cut up by our fire and worn out by our counter-attacks, was obliged to suspend action and return to his own lines. We captured prisoners and some machine guns.

"In the Col della Beretta region a thrust on the part of the enemy infantry was crushed promptly by our fire. On the remainder of the front the fighting activity was very moderate."

COUNTER-ATTACKS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

BERLIN, Dec. 20.—Repeated Italian counter-attacks against the positions recently captured by the Austro-Germans on Monte Pertica were repulsed yesterday, the German General Staff announced today. Since December 11 the Teutons have taken nearly 9000 prisoners in the fighting between the Brenta and Piave rivers.

M'CARTON'S DEFENSE.

"Irish Ambassador" Says He was Going Home to Resume His Practice.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—The Federal authorities were informed by Dr. Patrick McCarton's counsel today that the only object which the "Ambassador to the United States of the Irish Republic" had in trying to return to Ireland last October was to resume his professional practice there. McCarton, whose real purpose, the government alleges, was to engage in Sinn Fein activities, was held in $750 bail when arraigned today charged with falsely representing himself to be an American citizen when he shipped on a Belgian relief ship in his effort to get back to Ireland. McCarton was taken off the ship at Halifax and brought here.

CHRISTMAS EVE SONG FESTIVAL ARRANGED.

MME. SCHUMANN-HEINK WILL BE ONE OF SINGERS OF THE OCCASION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 20.—City authorities and local State societies tonight completed arrangements for a great Christmas tree celebration to be held in the city Plaza on the night of December 24 for the thousands of soldiers and sailors in training here.

Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, the noted contralto, who, though born in Austria, has given four sons to the United States service, will sing. She will also sing at a Christmas celebration to be held at Camp Kearny for the men of the Fortieth Division who cannot leave the camp on Christmas Day.

The local Southern Pacific office announced tonight that a special train would take Batteries A and B of the California Grizzlies, now at Camp Kearny, home for Christmas and bring them back here in time for the men to resume their training with the One Hundred and Forty-fourth Field Artillery. Most of the men in the two batteries come from San Francisco and vicinity.

Katherine Stinson, little Texas aviatrix who flew from this city to San Francisco on December 11, breaking the American nonstop record, announced tonight that on December 26, at San Francisco, she would give a special exhibition flight as a benefit for the One Hundred and Forty-fourth Field Artillery, the California Grizzlies, at Camp Kearny. The receipts will go to the comfort fund of the artillery regiment.

CHARGES DISMISSED.

Contempt Proceedings Against Attorney Silas Cobb Dropped in Court.

In contempt proceedings against Silas Cobb, an attorney, in Judge Dehy's court yesterday, the charges were dismissed. It appeared that Attorney Cobb had misunderstood Judge Monroe when the case he represented was before that court. Judge Monroe was a witness in the contempt case yesterday, and Mr. Cobb made the plea that he could not hear him testify. Thereupon Judge Monroe raised his voice a considerable degree. No one in his own courtroom ever found fault because His Honor talked in an inaudible tone.

Mr. Cobb was an attorney in the suit of Wallace Mann, a miner, against the Wood Manufacturing Company for damages growing out of the loss of four fingers in a groover. His statement that Judge Monroe had taken a certain action was contradicted by the attorneys for the defendant company. Mr. Cobb said yesterday that his differences were entirely with these attorneys and not with the court.

NEIGHBORHOOD TERRORIZED.

Daring Daylight Robbery of Store is Frustrated.

Proprietor's Wounded as He Fights Two Bandits.

One Man is Caught by Ruse After a Chase.

Committing a daring daylight burglary and hold-up, two negroes late yesterday afternoon terrorized the residents in the vicinity of Pico street and Maple avenue, by shooting Frank E. Rathbun, a grocer, with a store at No. 401 East Pico street, when he grappled with one of them, while they attempted to rob his store.

One of the negroes, who gave the name of Irwin Wells, was chased for several blocks by Max Berenzweig, a special deputy sheriff and finally took refuge under the house at No. 1024 Crocker street. While Detectives Wood, Murphy and Hetrick were getting the occupants out of the house preparatory to going under the building after the negro, Berenzweig stuck a broom handle through a narrow door which led under the house and told the negro to come out or he would be shot.

Wells came from under the house and was searched by the nervy young deputy sheriff, who is also a storekeeper.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

The victim of the hold-up and shooting, Mr. Rathbun, was rushed to the Receiving Hospital, where he was given emergency treatment by Police Surgeon Stewart. The bullet which struck Mr. Rathbun, glanced off his breast-bone and lodged under the skin of his right arm-pit. It was extracted at the Receiving Hospital by Surgeon Stewart.

The two negroes, according to the storekeeper, entered his shop, and one of them commanded Mr. Rathbun to put up his hands, while Wells rifled the cash register. Mr. Rathbun grappled with the burglar and the latter shot him. The two negroes immediately ran from the grocery store and were seen leaving by Mr. Berenzweig, who followed them east on Pico street. The negro who did the shooting ran south on Myrtle street, while Wells crossed over to Crocker street and crawled under the house. During his flight Wells hurdled two fences six feet high each and was followed closely by Berenzweig.

NEGRO CONFESSES.

Wells was taken to Central Station by Detectives Murphy, Hetrick and Wood, where he confessed, they say, to his part of the crime. In the Receiving Hospital, Mr. Rathbun, while on the operating table, identified Wells as the man who had done the shooting, but later admitted that he wasn't sure of his identification.

Wells was followed in an automobile by O. W. Seymour of the Wholesale Grocers' Association and by several other persons, who were half a block or more behind the young deputy sheriff, who finally affected the capture.

Police are searching for the other negro, who escaped. The two colored men are supposed to be the pair that committed four burglaries and two hold-ups Wednesday night and early yesterday morning.

SUBMARINE ELEVEN PRACTICE TOMORROW.

Extra! The Submarine Base football warriors will practice at Washington Park tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Coaches Charlie Murray, Patrick Higgins, Art Lutz, Jeroboam Abbott and Jesse Jesson decided on this important move late last night after carefully lubricating the delicate machinery of their think tanks. They determined, furthermore, to keep the Submariners in Los Angeles until after the benefit game with Walter Rheinschild's All-Stars at Washington Park Christmas Day.

Rheinschild gave the All-Stars a snappy workout on Bovard Field yesterday afternoon, and is greatly delighted with the material on hand. "Rhine" will use players from Occidental, U.S.C. and Pomona in the conflict next Tuesday. The entire proceeds of the game will be devoted to building a gymnasium for the Submarine Base at San Pedro.

L. A. BOYS EAGER TO BECOME RIFLEMEN.

Following the announcement in The Times yesterday of the organization of the L. A. Boys' Rifle Club, some twenty young enthusiasts and a group of interested parents camped on Owen Council's trail at the B. H. Dyas Company to make inquiries or enroll on the charter member list.

Fearing that Council was being mobbed, Bernal Dyas elbowed his way through the crowd to find what it was all about, and became so enthused with the idea of teaching young America how to shoot, that he has promised to furnish the boys with .22-caliber rifles to use at the club practices.

Membership is still open in the Boys' Rifle Club. The use of a special .22-caliber range has been donated by the Los Angeles Gun Club, and, under the instruction of Owen Council, a veteran shot, practice will be held Saturday mornings, the first session being set for December 29. There is no membership fee or other charge, except for ammunition.

MARKSMEN READY FOR TURKEY SHOOT.

Los Angeles Gun Club artists are oiling up their best artillery for next Sunday's turkey shoot. J. K. McDonald has presented four large turkeys that will go to the best shots in the crowd, contestants being divided into four classes, according to their ability. Competition for the turkeys will start at 11 o'clock a.m., while other events will be held during the entire day.

ANGEL CITY ARTIST BEATEN BY HOPPE.

Willie Hoppe, world's champion billiardist, continued his wonderful exhibition over the green cloth yesterday afternoon by decisively trouncing Ledger Blake, the Los Angeles boy who was runner-up in the national amateur championships at Boston last year.

Hoppe "went out" at 300 point 18.2 balkline in three innings, while Blake, who shot two innings, rolled up forty-one tallies. Hoppe's score by innings reads as follows, 0-96-204. The high run of 204 is remarkable, even for Hoppe, and caused the most effete billiardists in the large audience to palpitate with excitement. Charlie Peterson, Hoppe's traveling mate, prefaced the game with a short lecture on billiards and ended the entertainment with a dazzling exhibition of fancy shots.

The score at the night play at 18.2 balk line was Hoppe 300; Blake, 98. Hoppe's runs were, 123-0-70-9-19-11-0-68; and Blake's, 0-22-7-23-36-0.

Today at 2 o'clock p.m. and at 8 o'clock in the evening Hoppe and Peterson will play exhibition matches at 250 point balkline and three cushions. Tomorrow Hoppe and a galaxy of billard stars will appear at Wright's parlors for the benefit of the Halifax sufferers, every penny of the receipts to be turned over for this laudable relief work.

PREP FOOTBALL FUNERAL TODAY

Either the Toilers or Pomona will be Mourners.

Dope Indicates Manual Arts will Win.

Sagehens, However, Known as Bulldogs.

Manual Arts and Pomona high schools will conduct the obsequies at a general of prep football on Bovard Field this afternoon. Many Southern California gridders will flock to the winner of the festivities, as the last rites should prove rather touching and interesting. Because of the importance of the occasion, some six or seven thousands of mourners will be on hand to vent their grief in piercing yells and rollicking college rahs.

The Vermont-avenue Toilers are certain highly justified mourners after a decisive victory, and have already picked out a prominent position in their classic halls to frame the pennant which represents the pinnacle of gridiron achievement in all parts. According to all the dope, the Vermonters will see their wildest dreams of unfading glory come to realization this afternoon, and will do so without the intervention of any Ole Joe Luck.

On the other hand, the Pomona scrappers, champions of the old belt, admit that the odds are against them, but will be prepared to give up the battle of their young lives against the talented city team. When cornered the fighting Sagehens, like a drowning lumberman, will make a sure bet that they will give up the last ounce of steam in the final conflict today.

Coach Sid Foster of the Artists has been grappling with the problem of overconfidence all week and is sure by this time his men are convinced that they are a bunch of unlegged, armless bunglers.

Yesterday an important addition was brought about in the Toiler line-up, when "Speed" McMillan, the all-star end, received a certificate of honorable graduation to the back field. This maneuver presents Left Half Barrow with a well-served seat on the sidelines, and gives Eason, a clever 130-pound midget, "Mac's" former berth at end. McMillan is a real tackle-to-tackle man and should prove effective as a support for the pellet.

The Pomonans have selected the south bleachers and will assemble this afternoon throwing paper bags and empty pop bottles at T. Coach Cartwright and the other officials in the press box prophesy who goes to which side of the field. The Artists, however, have the sun in their eyes, but in spite of this fact for a good many years they contend that the sunset of Pomona's hopes will be witnessed from this point of vantage long before the their educated lunch hours are due.

Jeroboam Abbott, the well-known salesman, but lately identified with the hair restorer manufacturers, has been selected by the citizens of the populace to referee. Jim Ireland will umpire. Jesse Wells, the sidelins orator, will be on hand to serve as field judge after it is assured that "Over" Irvine has departed for Nova Scotia and will not possibly get back in the game. "Handsome Louie" will handle the little ball for the white numbers on it, but the girls are so curious about

RHODES ELECTED REDLANDS CAPTAIN

REDLANDS, Dec. 20.—Rhodes, who for two years has been one of the star linesmen of the "varsity" of Redlands, playing tackle, has been elected the captain of the team for the coming season. Rhodes has been one of the most consistent and popular men on the team during the past year, and his election has met with favor among the students.

Leeyl Trine, who has played quarter for two years and was elected captain this year, graduates in the spring. It is believed that the other four of the latter men of the backfield during the past year will be back in school for football next year.

Coach Cunningham has announced that close training for next season will begin immediately after the holidays.

PRACTICE THIS MORNING.

The All-Stars who will play the Submarine Base team on Christmas Day are requested to report for practice this morning at 9 o'clock on Washington Park.

MICHIGAN MAN TIGER MANAGER

Tom Darmody, chief cook at the Vernon ball club, sailed for It Abroad last night that Manager Ensick has been engaged to manage the Tigers next season.

Ensick stood at the helm of the Grand Rapids nine for several years, wrestling five pennants during his terms of office there, and was at one time connected with the Portland club of the Pacific Coast League.

The new Tigers boss is also a member of the Masons, known as "playing second fiddle" prefacing his name by omitting from the spelling of it a

PREP FOOTBALL FUNERAL TODAY

Either the Toilers or Pomona will be Mourners.

Dope Indicates Manual Arts will Win.

Sagehens, However, Known as Bulldogs.

Manual Arts and Pomona high schools will conduct the official funeral of prep football on Bovard Field this afternoon. Since the Southern California gonfalon will go to the winner of the festivities, the last rites should prove rather lively and interesting. Because of the importance of the occasion, some six or seven thousands of mourners will be on hand to vent their grief in piercing yells and rollicking rahrahs.

The Vermont-avenue Toilers entertain highly justified aspirations of a decisive victory, and have already picked out a prominent position for their classic halls to fasten the pennant which represents the pinnacle of gridiron achievement in their parts. According to all the data figured, Vermonters will see their wildest dreams of unfading glory come to realization this afternoon, and that without the intervention of many Ole Joe Luck.

On the other hand, the Pomona scrappers, champions of the cross-town belt, admit that the odds are against them, but will be prepared to go up the battle of their young lives against the talented city youths. When cornered the Sagehens fight like a drowning kangaroo, and it is a sure bet that they will put up the last ounce of steam in the conflict today.

Coach Sid Foster of the Artisans has been grappling with the demon of overconfidence all week and is sure by this time his men are convinced that they are a bunch of big-legged, armless bunglers.

Yesterday an important clean-up was brought about in the Manual line-up, when "Spec" Keeler, star of the all-star end, received a gentle caste of honorable graduation to the back field. This maneuver presents Left Half Barnes with a reserved seat on the sidelines, and puts Eason, a clever 126-pound subject, "Mac's" former berth at end. Miss Millan, a rural flashback, moves up and should prove effective as an escort for the pellet.

The Pomonans have selected the south bleachers and will spend the afternoon throwing peanuts and empty pop bottles at T. Cutting Cartwright and the other undersized press box peruser who grace the north side of the field. The Artisans have the sun in their eyes, but for this fact for a good one, one they contend that the sunset of Pomona's hopes will be witnessed from this point of vantage long before their educated lunch hooks get near.

Jeroboam Abbott, the suave salesman, but lately blacklisted as the hair restorer manufacturers, has been selected by the clarion-voiced of the populace to referee, and Jim Ireland will umpire. Jack Wolfe, the sideline orator, consented to serve as field judge after being assured that "Owl" Irvine had departed for Nova Scotia and could not possibly get back in time to see the game. "Handsome Louie" Bert will handle the little black bone with the white numbers and it, that of the rule are so curious about.

WOMAN BADLY HURT BY RUNAWAY AUTO.

MACHINE SAID TO HAVE BEEN LEFT STANDING WITH ENGINE RUNNING.

Mrs. F. McDonald of No. 111 North Grand avenue was seriously injured yesterday morning when she was struck by a runaway automobile at First and Olive streets. She was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where she was given emergency treatment. Mrs. McDonald's nose was broken and she was badly bruised.

The driver of the automobile, Joseph Torres, was arrested by Detectives Fitzgerald and Ziegler and held at the City Jail on a charge of criminal negligence. According to the police, Torres left the auto standing on the First-street hill with the engine running. The motor jarred the brakes loose and the machine started down the hill, striking Mrs. McDonald as she was crossing First street, near Olive.

An investigation of the conduct of a patrolman, who is alleged to have refused to aid hospital attaches to take Mrs. McDonald to the Receiving Hospital because the accident did not happen on his beat, is being conducted by Chief Butler.

MAY PAROLE GIRL-BOY.

Woman Who Committed Robbery While Dressed as a Man to be Given Another Chance.

After Susie Hartman, the 19-year-old girl-boy, who was arrested several weeks ago while dressed in male attire, yesterday entered a plea of guilty to burglary, Judge McCormick announced that he would consider an application for probation in her case. Her interests will be looked after by Public Defender Wood, who told the court he believed the prisoner would become law-abiding if permitted to go free.

The young woman was arrested with Mrs. Leona Jeffries, who was accused of receiving the stolen property. She was released yesterday upon her own recognizance, the court asserting that she is needed at home to care for her baby.

I CURE Piles, Fistula and All Rectal Diseases Without an Operation

For twenty-five years I have been curing diseases of the lower bowel. During that time my experience as hospital and rectal surgeon, as college lecturer and professor, has enabled me to develop a method that is superior to others. I cure without surgery and my patients are not confined in bed and seldom lose a moment's time from their business.

My method is not a "home cure" or a "correspondence treatment." It is an application of skilled treatments administered under the most antiseptic conditions in my office.

PROF. COOPER IS DENOUNCED FROM PLATFORM OF INSTITUTE.

Alfred Noyes Declares Stanford Lauder of Germans Should be Tarred and Feathered—Shailer Mathews Flays Teutonic Works.

ASSOCIATION from the platform of the Teachers' Institute of Prof. W. A. Cooper and of ...ments was the answer yesterday of world-famous men of letters to the statements made on ...day by Prof. Cooper, head of the department of Germanic literature at Stanford University, to the effect that Germany, like some ...t Ben Adhem of the nations, loves all the rest.

Following the literature section of the California Teachers' Association auditorium of the Hollywood High school, Dr. Alfred Noyes, poet and associate member of the faculty of Columbia University, New York, declared that the professor should "be led by the hand placed in a barrel and there feathered." The reference was a declaration by Prof. Cooper that if "anyone was to appoint President of Stanford ...uggestion that the teachers should be dropped, that person should be taken by the ear and ...d out the end of the camp."

Dr. Shailer Mathews of the University of Chicago, who addressed the opening meeting of the general session of the Teachers' Institute in the Shrine Auditorium in the afternoon, said:

"Never again can Germany be ...ted to have been to the world. We have seen brutality where we had ...ed to see power, ruthlessness where we had seen efficiency, stupidity where we had ...ed for land and ...ere we had seen philosophy and statecraft. Germany itself ...ed the disillusionment. ...self has transformed our ...ss apprehension, our neutrality into war. Our task is perilous. With strong faith in ...ho is carrying things forward freedom and justice, ...rselves to defend our national ...ntinue international law, ...ecency."

Dr. Noyes' address at the Hollywood was of the most vigorous. He had been scheduled to ...a paper on "Democracy and War," but when he read Prof. Cooper's speech, he immediately ...anged his programme.

"RIDICULOUS ASS."

The part of Dr. Noyes' address ... from manuscript, which he had dictated during the forenoon, but he frequently departed from it to elaborate his attack on the Stanford professor and to make his statements more pointed and emphatic. "This egregious ass of a professor" was one of the terms he employed.

Dr. Noyes said:

"I want particularly to refer to a point that has been brought into prominence during the last twenty-four hours, touching upon the teaching of German in the schools of California. A professor at Leland Stanford University, a Mr. Cooper, told the Southern California Teachers' Institute yesterday that the Germans are the leaders of the world in everything under the sun, and that anyone who opposed the teaching of German at Leland Stanford would be led off the campus by the ear.

"Free speech is a phrase to conjure with in all democratic countries, and yet this amusing gentleman, who reminds one of the hero of Kipling's story, 'The Village that Voted the Earth was Flat,' dares to make this suggestion. He says that an American citizen who presumes to ask that the German language shall not be taught in his own colleges, should be treated with physical violence at a time like this. Supposing even that the American citizen's opinion about the value of German was wrong, what is the meaning of the Stanford professor's desire to treat him with violence? Is it a meaning that would entitle us to suggest that Mr. Cooper should be led by the ear to Berlin?

"SLANDERS UNIVERSITY."

"Supposing, for instance, that your American universities begin to pay the fearful price that English universities have paid (British casualties last month were over 120,000;) supposing the tens of thousands of your young men make the supreme sacrifice; supposing that an American citizen, the father of one of these young men, timidly enters the hallowed precincts of Leland Stanford University and reads the name of his son in the roll of honor on their chapel door; supposing that he ventures to think it may be out of place to teach in that university the philosophy against which his son was sent out to die, this egregious ass of a professor dares to suggest that such a man should be treated with violence?

"Even supposing that this American citizen's views were wrong; are they not at least reasonable enough to be debated? What, then, has become of 'free speech' at Leland Stanford University, if this professor's remarks were true? We all know them to be false and foolish and a slander upon his own university. I have the honor of the acquaintance of many of the faculty at that university, and I know that they would be the first to treat his suggestions with the contempt that they deserve.

"Mr. Cooper takes occasion also to make an attack upon the newspapers of California. Can it be that this is because the press here does not embody enough of German thought to please him? The average man on the newspapers today may not know so much about philology as does a college professor, but he knows a great deal more about the world. It is the privilege of the press, too, to print this amusing gentleman's remarks and thus give the people an opportunity to suppress him.

GERMAN IN SCHOOLS.

"But is the suggestion that the German language is unnecessary in the elementary schools a false one? Or even shortsighted? The first thing that is necessary in a country of this kind with its huge foreign population, in order to make the complete American citizen, is that he shall learn the common heritage of the English language and the American and English literature.

"I know something about the colleges of this country. I have visited over 400 colleges and educational institutions in different parts of the United States, a far greater number, I venture to say, than Mr. Cooper even knew to be in existence; and I also venture to say that it would be the extreme absurdity to try and teach the more elementary scholars the language and thought of Charlatans like Haeckel before they have mastered the essays of truly great men like your own Emerson, or the lucid philosophy of William James. I will say nothing for the moment about Shakespeare, or the great masters of the literature which is your heritage just as much as that of any Englishman, because it belongs to an earlier period than the war in which our Englishman, George Washington, fought against the King, the German King, who could not speak English, but sat upon the throne of England.

"There is quite enough in your our language and literature to teach and to learn before you embark on the monstrous ocean of humbug—which is known as German thought.

William James declared that no man could honestly say he even understood Hebel, and Hegel is one of the best of the German obscurantists. In their later thought they have given themselves up entirely to a completely non-moral philosophy—the doctrine that might is right—is part of the very substance of their thinking, but it is only a very small part of the general corruption of the German intellect. I have here a volume of one of their most noterious recent philosophies, translated, I am sorry to say, by an American woman. I venture to say that there is not a man in this room who would dare to get up on this platform and read aloud the two pages I have marked. If anybody cares to take up the challenge, the book is here and at his service.

"ABYSMAL IGNORANCE."

"But, apart from this, what an abysmal depth of ignorance, oppression, bluff, this Mr. Cooper has displayed in his statement that the Germans are the leaders of the whole world in everything under the sun. Has he never even heard of literature? In literature, the Germans, as a comparatively new nation, have been treated with the most amazing kindliness by the critics of other nations. Against the long roll of glorious names in English and French literature, they have only two grossly overrated poets — whose names they repeat with a parrot-like insistence—the names of Goethe and Schiller, and both of these poets were entirely out of sympathy with the German thought which has now led the German intellect to ruin.

"But, we will take them on their own ground. We will turn aside from literature, and take them on the ground of science. Has Mr. Cooper never heard the name of Newton? His only criticism of that name, I suppose, would be that he is out of date; that is to say, he was a leader and an originator—not a follower. But has Mr. Cooper never heard of the name of Darwin?

"I am not going to speak here of the petty collectors of dry-as-dust details, the poor little Gigadibs professors who go poking about in the dusty corners of philology. Mr. Cooper has asked for the leaders in science. I give him a leader—Charles Darwin. I can give him a dozen more, if he wishes—Herbert Spencer, Lister, Faraday; but we will be content for the moment with Charles Darwin, who stands out like a great mountain towering over the whole of modern thought, the whole of modern science, and even the whole of modern political philosophy. It is because the Germans were followers, and not leaders, because they misunderstood what they stole from Darwin, that disaster has come upon them. They misunderstood the doctrine of the survival of the fittest. But they have been talking about it ever since they picked it out of Darwin's pocket.

WHY GERMANY FAILS.

"One thing they forgot to steal from Darwin, and that was his great sentence in the descent of man—that the understanding revolts from supposing that this grand sequence of events which we call the evolution of the universe was the result of blind chance.

"Had they rightly understood this they could never have committed themselves to the doctrine that there is no power above the state. Had they rightly understood this they would not have ignored those imponderable things which make the victory of the Allies certain. They would never have dreamed that wrong could triumph over right. They could never have done what they did in Belgium, and what the German Chancellor described in the Reichstag as a wrong.

"They could never have embodied their doctrines of frightfulness against civilian populations as they did in their military text-books printed before the war. They could never have used women to screen their firing line.

"Now, I am going to tell you an incident of the early days of the Patriotism.

TO BAN GERMAN IN THE SCHOOLS

Drastic Action Demanded at Board of Education.

Members Say it Gives Aid and Comfort to Enemy.

Clubs Must go; Disloyalty Means Dismissals.

The Board of Education yesterday expressed itself unanimously in favor of abolishing German clubs in the public schools and referred the question, as well as the matter of discontinuing the teaching of German, to a committee of the whole and Supt. Albert Shiels.

A resolution for the elimination of German from the course of study was introduced by Lucius Chase. This sought to abolish both the teaching of German and the existence of German clubs, but the first proposition was opposed by Supt. Shiels, and, after considerable discussion, the board members agreed that student clubs for the discussion of German ought to be suppressed.

Finally, at the suggestion of President Heim, both propositions were referred to the committee of the whole, with Supt. Shiels, the understanding being that the clubs should be put out of existence before the end of the holiday vacation.

COMFORT TO ENEMY.

In offering his resolution, Mr. Chase declared that the teaching of German in public schools gives comfort and aid to the enemy. He said that this is the time to all stand together and realize that war exists. He stated that he doesn't care what other schools are going to do about it, but that he thinks the Los Angeles schools should set others an example if they are laggards in their patriotic duty.

Supt. Shiels agreed regarding the abolishment of clubs where the students read German, but said he doubted the wisdom of dropping German as a study.

"I have directed that no folk songs nor other similar usages of German be allowed in the schools," said he, "but I cannot think that we should cease studying German as a modern language. I seriously doubt if Germans have ceased to study Shakespeare simply because they are at war with Shakespeare's people. I admit that German in elementary schools of Milwaukee, Chicago and New York has been used in spreading propaganda, and we would not want such a thing to occur here, but I think that is a matter which can easily be controlled. We cannot check propaganda by throwing the German language out. The methods of Kaiserism are far more sinister than that."

WOULD DISCARD BOTH.

J. M. Bean expressed himself in favor of discarding the study as well as the club. C. J. McCormick favors abolishing the German clubs.

It was hinted outside the board meeting that the board is quite impatient over the numerous complaints that have been made concerning recent utterances of certain teachers. It was stated that the board is going to take a firm grip upon the propaganda situation and hold suspects seriously to account. Moreover, it is hinted that when present contracts expire there may be a wholesale weeding out of teachers in the public schools.

Bride-to-be of Beach Minister.

Mrs. Jessica Clark,

Who will become Mrs. W. H. Cornett on New Year's Eve.

Who did It?

PASTOR'S NAME SCRATCHED OUT

Entry of Minister's Arrest Cut from Blotter.

Alteration of Public Record a Penal Offense.

Who scratched out the name of Rev. W. H. Cornett from the Santa Monica police blotter, following the latter's arrest on a charge of exceeding the speed limit in his automobile on the eve of marrying Mrs. Jessica Clark, Bay City club woman, and substituted the name of John Doe? This question puzzled the beach police yesterday and an investigation is to be made.

Dr. Cornett is to marry Mrs. Clark on New Year's Eve, at the First Presbyterian Church, Santa Monica, where the bridegroom-elect is pastor, and the wedding will be one of the big social events of the season in the Bay City.

Following the arrest, it is said by Sergt. Shannon of the Santa Monica police force that he received a telephone message asking that Dr. Cornett's name be removed from the blotter. Sergt. Shannon refused, he says, adding that to do so would constitute a penal offense.

However, between Wednesday night and yesterday noon Dr. Cornett's name had been scratched from the police blotter and the time-honored cognomen of John Doe had been inserted. The occupation of minister and the same address ascribed to Dr. Cornett remained unchanged.

The penalty for altering a public record is commitment in a State's prison for not less than one year and not more than fourteen years. Section 113, Penal Code, provides that "every person having custody of any record, map or book, or of any paper or proceeding of any court filed or deposited in any public office or placed in his hands for any purpose, who is guilty of stealing, wilfully destroying, mutilating, defacing, altering, falsifying, removing or secreting the whole or any part of said record, map, book, paper or proceeding, or who permits any other person so to do, is punishable by imprisonment in a State prison of not less than one year and not more than fourteen years.

Section 114 provides that any person not an officer such as referred to in section 113, "guilty of any of the acts specified, is punishable by imprisonment in a State prison not exceeding five years or in the County Jail not exceeding one year, or by a fine not exceeding $100, or by both."

SEPTUAGENARIAN IN ROMANTIC ELOPEMENT

PROMINENT ELDERLY COUPLE SECRETLY WED AFTER SWIFT COURTSHIP HERE.

Keeping their own counsel, George H. Warren, 70 years old, and Mrs. Marian E. Waters, 52, and daughter of a cousin of Gen. U. S. Grant, slipped away to Riverside and were married—then went to Arrowhead Springs for their honeymoon trip—waiting for their return yesterday to inform their children.

Mr. Warren who is a descendant of Gen. Joseph Warren, has one son, Henry Warren, a merchant of Buena Park. The bride is the mother of Mrs. Ray Hasson of Hollywood. Mr. Warren is a retired business man.

Although he is three-score and ten years old and his bride is not far from three-score, it was a whirlwind romance that ended in their marriage. The couple met about two months ago, through a business transaction, and their interest in each other was instantaneous.

Mr. Warren has extensive interests in Buena Park and he and his bride will divide their time between there and Los Angeles.

Will be no Strike.

MEAT MEN WIN BATTLE FOR OPEN-SHOP POLICY.

AFTER a long session at Labor Temple last night with Joseph A. Conaty and Dr. John R. Haynes, acting as Federal mediators, the Journeyman Butchers' Union by unanimous vote decided to accept the compromise offer of the Meat Dealers' Association of Los Angeles, and all plans for a strike are off.

Ever since the union butchers formulated their demands, several weeks ago, they have been insistent that one of their unalterable terms must be the closed shop. The Meat Dealers' Association has been equally firm in its stand that under no conditions would it accede to this demand. The meat markets of Los Angeles will remain open shop places of employment.

The association met yesterday afternoon, heard the report of the Federal mediators on the meeting of the union on the previous night, which

CAMP KEARNY MEN GET EXTRA YULETIDE HOLIDAY

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CAMP KEARNY, Dec. 20.—The soldiers received a mighty acceptable Christmas gift in advance today, when an extra day of liberty was tacked on to their holiday vacation. Through an order issued by Maj.-Gen. Frederick S. Strong, the officers and men will not be required to return to camp until Wednesday at midnight, instead of 7:30 a.m. that day as originally planned. This means that those living as far away as San Francisco will be able to pass Christmas Day at home, instead of leaving for the camp the morning of that day, as otherwise would have been necessary. This was one of the most welcome bits of news that has broken in the cantonment in quite a spell, and bespeaks the true spirit of Yuletide.

Arrangements are rapidly being completed for the Camp Kearny training school for officers, which will open on January 5 under command of Capt. Philoon, aide-de-camp to Maj.-Gen. Strong. This will be open to privates and noncommissioned officers picked on the basis of merit, and also to recruits who have graduated from colleges and universities with accredited military courses. In the school they will be trained for commissions as second lieutenants. The enrollment will consist of one and seven-tenths of the enlisted strength of the division. They will accompany the division wherever it is sent, and complete their training, if necessary, behind the lines.

Criticisms of health conditions and inadequate clothing for protection against the weather directed at a number of the camps, could not have included Camp Kearny. The general health of the men here is good, and the percentage of sickness small. In these respects it rated very high in a report by the Surgeon-General covering the period up to November 23, and conditions are even better now.

LITTLE PNEUMONIA.

Pneumonia has been much less prevalent here than in many camps. There has been some spinal meningitis, but of a very light form in most cases. Measles, in its varied forms, is in the camp. Measles, however, are not a military malady, and are just as likely to break out in the bosom of your own family as down here. A considerable number of those in the base hospital are not on the bum physically, but have simply been exposed to something

WOMAN REFUSES NAME "KAISER."

Divorcee Doesn't Want Her German-sounding Maiden Title Restored.

Violette Kaiser married Daniel George Kitt. Yesterday Judge Wood granted her a divorce on the grounds of desertion. Naturally her attorney believed she would like to resume her maiden name, although it is not now in war times a name to be loved, but Mrs. Kitt said she is an American, and instructed her counsel not to make application for a change.

GERMANISM IN SCHOOLS IS ROUNDLY DENOUNCED.

war. You will find all the evidence for it in the Bryce report. James Bryce, the ex-Ambassador to this country, is known as an honest man from the East to the West, and his report has never for an instant been doubted. He gives you the facts, and I give you precisely the same facts as described by an eyewitness. It is not a pleasant subject, but this is not a time for hushing things up while Mr. Cooper is going about with a packet of intellectual poison in his pocket for the schools of California. I am going to administer an antidote. There was a certain British regiment in the early days of the war which was cut almost to pieces. There was a certain very terrible reason for this disaster. A few of the survivors were taken into a hospital where there were some American nurses. I can give you the name of one of the most responsible people connected with that hospital, an American citizen, now in this country.

"This American, going through the hospital, asked one of the survivors of the disaster how it had happened. The soldier began cursing and swearing, and would make no reply. The next day the American went through the hospital again, and the soldier apologized to him. He said that he could not bear even to think about it. Then he told him something of what had happened. He said that the Germans had come forward with a line of Belgian women in front of them; many of the women were stripped and the Germans were creeping up with machine guns and firing between this living screen. He said: 'We got the order to fire three times, and we couldn't do it. Then,' he added, 'we got the order a fourth time, and my God, we did fire, but it was too late.'

"The soldier began cursing again, and completely broke down.

LOGICAL SEQUENCE.

"This is the logical consequence of the German philosophy that the state may do anything in its own interests, that individual morality differs from political morality, because, while there is a power above the individual, there is no power above the state. The answer to that philosophy was given in a single sentence by the British Prime Minister at the outbreak of the war, when he said, in answer to the proposal that England should remain neutral, ignoring her contract, while Germany cut the throats of innocent people, that sooner than see England consent to so infamous a proposal, he would see her blotted out from the book of history.

"The answer has been given even more fully by your own President, and, believe me, it is far more important that your schools should be taught what your President has called the simple and unsophisticated ideas of right and wrong which were held by all your great men in the past, than that your children and your students should be corrupted and plunged into the German hell of immorality."

LUSITANIA MEDAL.

Dr. Noyes then showed the audience one of the medals struck off by the Numismatic Society of Munich to commemorate the sinking of the Lusitania. One side of the medal showed the big ship sinking; the other was a caricature of the victims booking their passage at the office of death.

"These medals," said Dr. Noyes, "were issued in large numbers, many of them for distribution among the school children of Germany. They typify the abyss of German thought."

Dr. Noyes was repeatedly applauded by the teachers, who filled the school auditorium to the number of over 500.

BY DR. MATHEWS.

Dean Shailer Mathews's address in Shrine Auditorium was, in part, as follows:

"The United States has entered the war in self-defense. Two chief elements of our history and our position as a nation are in danger. We have been assailed in our citizenship, and that international law on which our national integrity rests and to which we have contributed new elements and moral worth has been denied and rejected.

"Nor have we seen our conception of natural power assailed in general ways alone. It was the German Ambassador who sent forth the notice that our citizens should not sail on the Lusitania except at their own peril. It was the Germans, if not the German government, who issued a medal celebrating the sinking of the Lusitania—a medal fit to be preserved in hell with the medal celebrating the massacre of Saint Bartholomew. We have seen mines and submarines sent to sea so that no nation can send a vessel to Europe without the danger of having it blown up. It is true that Germany said she would leave a little crack through which American ships might go once a week, if they sent notice beforehand and became subject to German regulations. We have seen our ships sunk and our citizens drowned. We have seen promises broken, and our nation threatened with foreign war stirred up by German officials and official letters.

"It is the flouting of our sovereignty as a nation which has brought war upon us. For over two years we turned our cheek, and then another cheek, writing a note each time, until after these last assaults we came to realize that war had indeed been waged against us despite our over-sensitive neutrality. We did not enter into the war; war was thrust upon us in bloody and arrogant denial of our right as a nation of citizens to govern our own affairs.

WORSE THAN WAR.

"And yet there are some people who are still arguing whether we ought to go to war! Few persons have belonged to more peace societies than have I, and I do not take back a word I ever said as to the un-Christian character of war. But there is something worse than war; the destruction of those institutions and that nationality which embody our conception of a state that is composed of free, self-governing citizens. When a man questions whether we ought to protect democracy by war, I reply that whoever cannot see a duty to protect ourselves from this assault upon our national life, and our effort to maintain a nation with sovereignty, expressing the ideals of democracy and based upon universal citizenship, is either a myopic idealist, plain stupid or pro-German."

DAY'S PROGRAMME.

Several interesting addresses on educational topics were delivered yesterday at various section meetings of the teachers' convention. At noon Dr. E. P. Cubberly of Stanford University spoke on the significance of educational movements and Dr. John R. Kirk of Kirksville, Mo., on the school as the culture center in every community. At the Central intermediate school J. Stitt Wilson spoke on "Ancient Greece in Modern Life."

At last night's general session in the Central intermediate school auditorium, Frederick Jones, naturalization examiner for Los Angeles, spoke on co-operation between the public schools, the courts and the bureau of naturalization.

Today the business session will be held, at which the question of certain proposed amendments to the constitution will be decided.

DESCRIBES DEATH FALL IN AUTOMOBILE.

ONLY SURVIVOR OF WHITE'S POINT ACCIDENT, IS DAMAGE SUIT WITNESS.

Percy J. Townsend, now a wireless operator in the government service, who is the only survivor of a party of five that drove over the cliffs at White's Point, west of the harbor, the night of June 24, 1914, was a witness before a jury in United States District Judge Trippet's court, yesterday, in the action brought by Edward Clark, of Arizona, against R. D. Sepulveda, for the death of his son, William Bryan Clark, on that tragic occasion. He asks damages of $30,000.

The story of Townsend held the court-room spellbound as he detailed the sheer fall in an automobile of more than 200 feet to the beach below in the dark, and his efforts the next morning, when death was near, to attract the attention of a party of Japanese fishermen. Townsend later lay at the point of death for weeks.

It is alleged in the bill that Sepulveda, who owns the land lying on both sides of Pacific avenue, leading out of the harbor, set out the allurement of a picnic ground at the end of the avenue, and within a few hundred feet of the dangerous cliffs. Sepulveda's defense is that he offered no such inducements and that the place was securely barricaded at the dangerous point. There are pending against Sepulveda, three suits for $35,000 each and one for $3000 damages growing out of the accident. A non-suit will be argued this afternoon.

SITS AS JUDGE.

Dana Weller, recently appointed a judge of the Superior Court to succeed Judge Wilbur, sat on the bench in Extra Sessions Court No. 2 yesterday on the stipulation of the attorneys in the suit of W. D. Burt against Robert H. Tuna and B. H. Dana. The action was for breach of contract. The court held there was no option and there was no obligation on the part of the defendants to take a block of 7000 shares of stock. Attorney George Greer represented the defendants.

TWICE REJECTED; GETS INTO ARMY ANYWAY.

RICHELIEU'S "In the bright lexicon of youth there is no such word as fail," has been revamped by Herbert G. Leonard, 33 years old, No. 1363 Citrus avenue, to read: "In the ambition of youth there is no such word as fat." Mr. Leonard, rejected for the United States Army on account of overweight, has come back strong and will leave Monday for "somewhere in America," wearing the uniform of Uncle Sam.

Mr. Leonard has been employed by The Times, for nineteen years, starting in 1898 as an "A. P. copy chaser." He went through the dynamiting of the old Times Building in 1910, being burned badly about the face and body, and has been known for years as a dependable man. For the last fourteen years he has been in charge of the business office on the "morning watch."

Last year Mr. Leonard tried to enlist in the Coast Artillery, but was rejected. The young man became determined to "show them," and he did. Constant physical training at the Y.M.C.A. caused a wonderful transformation, and, while he has been rejected twice in a year, yesterday he was accepted for war service. He has not yet been assigned to any company.

"You Won't Need A Single Penny Up at Cherry's, Sibyl."

"That is, if you can give good references—and I'm sure you can. I never heard of an offer to equal it. It seems that up until Christmas, when everyone is so hard pressed for ready money, Cherry's make an extra liberal offer, although their usual terms are liberal enough. You select anything in stock—take it home, wear it and enjoy it or give it for Christmas if you prefer—and don't pay a single cent on it until the first of the year. That's just like finding money to me. This wonderful shop for men and women is right downtown, too—second floor of the Orpheum building, at 636 South Broadway. They're open every evening until Christmas."—[Advertisement.

WILL STOP FOOD SAMPLE PEDDLING.

COUNCIL INTENDS TO MAKE IT HARD FOR ALIENS TO OPERATE HERE.

Determined to make it difficult for enemy aliens to utilize the free distribution of samples of food products as an avenue of carrying death and illness into the homes, the City Council's Health and Sanitation Committee, conferring on this subject yesterday, instructed Assistant City Attorney Robertson to prepare an ordinance which will absolutely prohibit the use of the streets for the distribution of samples of food. Such a measure, it is believed, will stand the acid test in the courts should anyone attempt to nullify it.

The distribution of samples of medicines, pills and noxious and offensive liquids is already prohibited by ordinance, but the ordinance is frequently evaded. Its terms are to be strengthened in order to offset the work of enemy aliens.

Distributors going from house to house are now compelled to obtain a peddler's license, but this section of the license ordinance, as it affects distributors of foodstuffs, will be repealed.

The committeemen had before them a sample of the breakfast food complained against last week. Health Commissioner Powers informed the committee the samples tested contained no poison or glass and were harmless.

FOUR SOLDIERS ARE ARRAIGNED IN COURT.

Two young men in uniform and two other who have enlisted but were in civilian attire appeared before Judge McCormick yesterday to answer to serious charges. The court said he believes a thorough investigation should be made of the cases and continued them until next Monday.

The uniformed men were J. H. Corfelt, an infantrymen, and H. B. Sansom, a member of the Aviation Corps. Both are charged with forgery. The former is alleged to have forged the name of his father to a check, while Sansom is accused of depositing a forged check in a local bank.

H. B. Blake and Jose La Vera are accused of having stolen automobiles.

STILL HUNT GUNMAN.

Coroner's Inquest Fails to Reveal Clew to Slayer of Pietro Matranga.

No further evidence as to who is responsible for the murder of Pietro Matranga, a fruit dealer, who was shot and killed Tuesday night at Eastlake and Henry streets by a supposed member of a Black Hand society, could be found yesterday at the inquest conducted by Coroner Hartwell. The jury returned a verdict that the deceased had met death at the hands of an unidentified person.

Detectives Carl Williams, McCarron, Mann and Murray of Boyle Heights division, who are working on the case, are searching the city for Mike Marino, alleged gunman for Mafia.

Sam Matranga, a cousin of the man shot last Tuesday, was killed in the same manner on November 8, in the back yard of his home, by the same method, a sawed-off shotgun filled with slugs being used.

Daggett-Deems Wedding.

A romance which started when a lovely young college freshman saw "the man" do desperate deeds of valor on the football field will culminate Monday evening in the marriage of Miss Orilla Daggett, daughter of William F. Daggett of Pine avenue and Huntington drive, South Pasadena, to Sergt. Ralph Deems of the Ordnance Department, Camp Kearny. Sergt. Deems is a graduate of Occidental College, where he made a reputation as an athlete. Last year he captained the Occidental eleven which won the California State championship by defeating the University of California. For three years he was named for the All-Southern collegiate eleven, and athletic authorities rate him as one of the best football players ever developed west of the Mississippi.

There it was she met and married Capt. Horn.

GIVES SAMMIES YULETIDE TREE.

Forest Official Rewards the Men Who Assisted in Fighting Fire.

Two forest rangers are combing the San Bernardino Mountains for the biggest and finest spruce tree in the Angeles National Reserve, to serve as a Christmas tree for the men of Battery F, One Hundred and Forty-third Field Artillery, now stationed at Camp Kearny, on the occasion of the Christmas jinks to be given next Wednesday evening.

Last September, when the Seventh Regiment was encamped at Arcadia, a fire broke out in the Angeles National Reserve, and threatened to sweep Mt. Wilson. Several hundred soldiers from the camp came to the relief of Supervisor Charlton and his crew of fire fighters. The men had not been sent for, but they came, just the same, and the work performed was notable and appreciated.

As a token of the regard of the forest rangers and Supervisor Charlton, a letter has been sent to Capt. H. L. Powell, Jr., informing him that an up-to-date Christmas tree will be sent to the battery at Camp Kearny.

CHICKEN DINNERS FOR POOR FAMILIES.

Eight hundred poor families in Los Angeles are assured of at least one chicken for the Christmas dinner through the medium of the Helping Hand and Sunshine Society, and its founder and president, "Uncle" Moses Lowenstein, "the Trinity-street Santa Claus." He yesterday paid for the fowls in advance. Four automobiles will be used in distributing them.

DRAMA SECTION TO MEET.

The drama section of the Scribblers' League will meet tomorrow night at 7:30 in room A at the Normal Hill Center Annex. Mrs. Lillian Pelee of the Woman's Press Club will read her play, "The Test." The meeting is open to the public.

CIVIC BODIES INDORSE PLAZA TERMINAL PLANS.

THE Federated Improvement Association, by a unanimous vote at a meeting held in the assembly-room of the public library Wednesday night, instructed its secretary, J. R. Tyson, to send a communication to the City Council to the effect that the association has indorsed the Plaza location for the proposed union terminal station, and that a resolution on this matter has been filed with the State Railroad Commission. Advocates of the Plaza site consider that the action of the Federated Association evidences a widespread sentiment in favor of a union station in the vicinity of the Plaza, as there are twenty-five local improvement organizations, representing practically every section of the city, constituting the membership of the Federated Improvement Association.

Many business men's organizations and civic bodies both in Los Angeles and surrounding territory have filed resolutions either with the Railroad Commission or the City Council indorsing the Plaza location. Among these associations are the following: Business Men's Co-operative Association, Stability Building Company, Civic Center Association, Second Street Tunnel Business Men's Association, Central Development Association, Western Avenue and Griffith Park Improvement Association, Edendale Improvement Association, Northeast Los Angeles Association, Temple Street Association, Second Street Tunnel and Improvement Association, San Fernando Chamber of Commerce, Hollywood Board of Trade, Trustees of South Pasadena, West Temple Street Association and North Main Street Improvement Association.

NAME BOARD TO PASS ON CHARITY FUNDS' STATUS.

A COMMITTEE of nine, authorized by the Los Angeles County Council of Defense to protect the public from imposition by people soliciting funds ostensibly for patriotic purposes, was appointed by Judge Craig, chairman of the council, yesterday. Those named were: E. G. Judah, Seth Brown, George I. Cochran, Mrs. Chester C. Ashley, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Clarence Van Graham, of Alhambra; Mayor A. L. Hamilton, Pasadena; Mayor W. A. Vandegrist, of Pomona; Mayor W. T. Lisenby, of Long Beach, and Mayor S. L. Berkeley of Santa Monica.

J. O. Koepfli, a member of the County Council of Defense, did excellent work on a similar organization during the Spanish-American War. He will act with this committee as the representative of the County Council of Defense. The county plans to have the written approval of the committee for the promotion of enterprises of patriotic relief or charity so that the citizens may be assured that such projects are bona fide.

The committee will pass upon all public requests for financial aid from the public. The need for this committee is perhaps greater at the Christmas season than at any other time, the council believes.

FRED STONE SIGNS.

FAMOUS STAGE COMEDIAN CASTS HIS LOT WITH LASKY.

By Grace Kingsley.

The latest famous stage star who is to try his fortunes in the motion pictures is Fred Stone, who has cast his lot with the Lasky company and who will come West the latter part of next May. Stone, it is understood, has been sought by many picture concerns, but the Lasky-Famous Players have secured him. He will receive one of the highest salaries in filmdom.

At present Mr. Stone is playing the lead in one of the four big New York successes, the musical comedy entitled "Jack o' Lantern," and he will not be able to appear before the camera until the end of his present season, which will be some time in May.

It is understood that Mr. Stone's contract runs only for the summer, during which time he will make three or four features. He will then return to New York to fulfill his engagements under the management of Charles Dillingham.

Winninger in Cohan Revue.

"What Next" having closed in Chicago, with no future bookings listed, Charles Winninger, husband of Blanche Ring, has been engaged as one of the stars of the new Cohan and Harris revue, which is now being written by George M. Cohan and Irving Berlin.

Back to the Spotlight.

Three film stars who are about to make their debut in vaudeville in a sketch by Joe Hart are Montagu Love, June Elvidge and Carlyle Blackwell.

Cupid Gets Another.

And now the supposedly uncatchable bachelor, Donald Crisp, who has passed unscathed among the wiles and charms of picturedom for two years, and who is one of the best-known picture directors in the business, has gone and fallen a victim to Cupid, the bride being Marie Starke, a young picture actress of this city.

Mr. Crisp has been planning a vacation for some time, but it was not until yesterday, when he departed on a camping trip in the Yosemite, that the thrilling news leaked out that he was not to go alone, but was to be accompanied on his trip by his lovely bride of a few days.

McRae's Mother Arrives.

Mrs. D. B. McRae, mother of Henry McRae, arrived from Saskatoon, Can., on last Tuesday and will remain here for the winter. It is three years since Mr. McRae has seen his mother, who soon will reach her eightieth year, and when the train pulled in from the north the Universal production manager was at the station to give her a warm welcome.

Mr. McRae states that mother has put no crimp in his style, either, as he finds her a good sport, willing to race as fast as he wishes in his new car, and not being averse even to a late supper at the Alexandria.

Fairbanks Rodeo Bulletin.

The enthusiasm of the cowboys who are to take part in the Douglas Fairbanks Red Cross rodeo on January 12 at Washington Park, is being evidenced every day by the former rangers and show buckaroos. Between scenes at the various studios they are trying new stunts, rehashing old ones, and in addition are figuring out what color shirts will be most effective on the day of the Fairbanks rodeo.

Tickets are already on sale at the Bartlett and the Southern California music stores, at the Alexandria, the Vernon Country Club, or otherwise may be obtained from B. H. Dyas and C. C. Hall in Hollywood.

Already $4000 worth of tickets have been sold, and Bennie Ziedman is willing to bet his shirt—not that anybody could or would wear Bennie's shirt—that instead of the $10,- gladdened no doubt by the news that various picture stars are to take part. Among others are certain Bluebird stars and actors, including Dorothy Phillips, Franklyn Farnum, Mae Murray, Jack Wells, Zoe Rae, Burwell Harwick, George Berrett, Howard Daniels, T. Hutchinson and J. A. Brennan.

They may also realize that these artists are very much in earnest in their desire to help, especially Mae Murray, whose tootsies are very sore, due to being obliged to rehearse her barefoot dancing act with two children on a stage which had been rosined for hard-shoe dancing, but who, nevertheless is going to do her bit toward giving the youngsters a good time.

Vacation Item.

The "Miss Springtime" company, which will appear at the Mason next week, is vacationing in town and environs; and if none of them gets sunstroke playing golf, or meets with mishaps in motoring, "Miss Springtime" will open as scheduled next Monday night.

Mae Marsh Causes Flurry.

Mae Marsh, who will appear at Quinn's Rialto next week in "The Cinderella Man," recently provided five minutes of mental agony for a dozen stage carpenters while engaged in making the last scenes of "The Cinderella Man." At the Fort Lee studios all workers ring in and out with the studio time clock, recording the hour of arrival and departure. Miss Marsh, thinking the talk over their private affairs with companions while viewing a picture show, to know that they cannot fail to be overheard.

Stars will Bring Joy.

Hearts of the kiddies who are to be the beneficiaries of the Shriners' Christmas entertainment for poor children, to be given at Shrine Auditorium next Saturday night, will be 000 which represents Fairbanks's goal, $15,000 or more will be raised.

Warning Note.

If it excites anybody to know it, Sid Grauman wants to announce that "whispering tests" have been applied to his new million-dollar theater at Third and Broadway, with complete success. Standing on a half-completed stage and minus the aid of chairs, carpets, draperies and audience to hold the sound, Mr. Grauman last night demonstrated that whispered words could be heard with startling distinctness in every corner of the house.

Inasmuch as the theater is to be a picture house, it is obvious that the value of these tests has to do with the musical acoustics only so far as the art feature is concerned. Incidentally it may prove a warning to such people as are wont to clock was "props," merrily engaged in punching every number she could reach until an avalanche of distressed artisans descended upon her to explain that she was trifling with something mighty close to their hearts and pocketbooks.

Miller's Pink Thought.

Pass the diamond belt right over to the Miller's Theater management for the brightest little publicity scheme anybody has thought of for some time.

To help those who are on the lookout for a good, inexpensive present to give children, or grown-ups for that matter, Miller's Theater has evolved the unique plan of putting on sale special holiday tickets with a place left vacant for the name of the doner. These tickets are for the picturization of Robert Louis Stevenson's famous story, "Treasure Island," featuring the famous Fox kiddies, which is to open on Saturday, December 22, and run during holiday week. These special tickets will be sold at regular prices and are good for any performance. They will also be accepted the following week for the newest Baby Jane and Katherine Lee picture, entitled "The Troublemakers."

As It Is.

WAR-TIME JINKS.

VIVID SKETCH IS GIVEN BY UNIVERSITY CLUB PLAYERS.

By Henry Christeen Warnack.

If the theatrical managers of the country could have witnessed the stupendous spectacle, "Christmas at Somewhere," as presented upon the stage of the University Club last night, they would have shed blood in their rivalry as to who should first sign up the entire cast for the rest of their natural lives.

Some of us know nearly everything, but there are a few things that none of us know and that we can never find out. One of these is why it is that the stage cannot have shows like the one pulled off by the luminaries of the University Club stage. Maybe they cannot get the actors, maybe they cannot get the plays, and mostly likely they cannot get the audiences. It took a wonderful combination of all three elements to make the vivid sketch that flashed across the intellectual horizon of that bunch of live wires at Sixth and Hill streets last night, and to make spirits of its reception.

When Jerry Uhl sang the "Marseilleise" and the "Star Spangled Banner" in the last half of the show and some twenty United States Army officers who are members of the club pressed to the front of the stage bearing the club's service flag with its seventy-five stars, representing 10 per cent. of the club's entire membership, the spirit of the audience was wildfire and the applause was thunder.

Jerry Uhl is a dramatic tenor of grand opera fame and, of course, a member of the club as were all those who took part in the sheet-lightning programme. He sings with a voice that combines head and heart and nobody missed the intelligence and feeling of his magnificent offerings.

In the sparkling sketch of two parts, we were given a striking cartoon of trench life that deserves a permanent place in the memory of those had the luck to enjoy its persiflage. It is probable that it will be repeated at Camp Kearny for the soldiers and somewhere in Los Angeles for the benefit of the Red Cross, and as a straight dramatic entertainment, it is worth the money a good many times over.

Its authorship was conglomerate, among those having a finger being William G. Behmer, A. M. Fournier, Harry Johnson and David Allison. It also had a whole staff of directors, but the director-general was Alfred Allen. Long may he wave.

In two particulars the continuity of the rapid-fire farce struck a deep note. We were given a characteristic flash of the manner in which the American Sammies, the French poilus and the English Tommies fraternize and we were snown at what a pitch the fun in the trenches is carried in fierce antithesis to the roar of cannon and the shriek of shell. It is like frolicsome hysteria. An American with his bad French orders his cocktail and is served with a live rooster. A negro who is boots to one of the colonels decorates himself with at least four feet of medals for bravery and has deliriums at sight of a Zeppelin. There is one girl to whom all the boys make love and the American raves when the Frenchman is first to find the word that the American is looking for. It is a great sketch and a wonderful performance.

Among the performers were Jerry Uhl, Art Fournier, Geoff O'Connell, Harry Mellen, Dave Allison, Joe Greenbaum, Fulton Lane, Cortez Shelton, Dean Kennedy, George Kothe, Van Court Warren, Leo Smith, Roy Pinkham, Dan Beecher and Doc Lowman. Dr. Humphreyville assisted in accompaniments and the club orchestra provided the music.

Shepard Mitchell and William Carey Marble were general managers, stage carpenters, scenic artists and over-souls.

LOST BABY IS ONLY A GOAT.

Woman's Appeals for Help Results in Comedy of Errors.

The semi-hysterical appeal for assistance sent the police department late last night by an Italian woman living at No. 424 Alpine street, that she had lost her 10-days-old baby, resulted in a comedy of errors in which Officer Hoffman of the Juvenile Bureau and Policewomen Shuentes and Berger played the principal roles.

The trio rushed to the residence and asked the woman where she had last seen her baby.

The woman though a moment and then inspiration lighted her face and she brokenly declared:

"Mistake. No baby, just baby goat."

ARREST REALTY MAN AS AN EMBEZZLER.

PRISONER WANTED ON CHARGE OF SWINDLING WOMAN, SAY OAKLAND POLICE.

George A. Fox, well-known realty broker here, was arrested yesterday afternoon in Oakland by Inspectors William Emigh and Joseph Robinson on a warrant issued in Santa Ana charging him with embezzling in the neighborhood of $22,000 from Mrs. A. B. Walters, a wealthy land owner of Anaheim, according to advices received from the north last night.

Emigh and Robinson traced Fox to his quarters at the Kay Route Inn through some dividends on sugar property which he cashed at the First National Bank. The inspectors made the arrest just as Fox was preparing to leave town. He told them that twenty minutes later he would have departed.

According to the inspectors, Fox has been handling the property of Mrs. Walters for some time. She discovered recently, the inspectors said, that the majority of an orange grove valued at $40,000, had been disposed of without her knowledge. Mrs. Walters also alleged that Fox embezzled between $5000 and $20,000 in cash. Accountants are working on his books.

MAN IS WOUNDED IN FIGHT WITH BANDIT.

PEDESTRIAN RESISTS PLAN OF HIGHWAYMAN TO GET HIS VALUABLES.

Last night's first hold-up was unsuccessful for the bandit and disastrous to the victim, H. E. Martin, of No. 147 West Twenty-fifty street.

Mr. Martin, according to the University division officers, was approaching his home, when a man stepped out from behind a tree and stuck a large automatic gun into his chest, commanding Martin to throw up his hands.

Instead of complying with the command, Martin hit the bandit on the jaw, throwing the muzzle of the gun upward. The bandit fired, but his aim was deflected and the bullet passed through the fleshy part of Mr. Martin's arm.

While the officers from University division were searching the neighborhood, Detectives Roy Shy and Kelly were sent to Sixth and Bixel streets, where a man was held up and robbed by an armed bandit a half an hour later. In the confusion and excitement following the hold up, the victim gave the wrong number, and the police were unable to locate him and get the description of the bandit.

GOVERNMENT IS AFTER GARBAGE

Needs Valuable By-products of Reduction Plants.

Rates Hog Farms as Secondary Consideration.

Fight Started Over Plan to Change City's Contract.

The United States government, vitally concerned in the question of the disposition of garbage because of the supply of glycerine, fatty acids and fertilizer tankage obtained, has taken a hand in the garbage controversy that is waging before the Council Committee on Health and Sanitation. The hotel, cafe and restaurant owners want the privilege of selling the garbage from their places to hog raisers. They seek a modification of the garbage ordinance and of the city's contract with the Pacific Reduction Company, to which the city now delivers all garbage.

At the hearing yesterday of the reduction company's side of the controversy, the interest the government is taking in the fight was shown in the following telegram, received by City Engineer Hansen. It reads:

"Emphatically urgent that all available garbage be utilized in your reduction plant. Increase in supplies of glycerine, fatty acids and fertilizer tankage are essential, and our investigations do not indicate that garbage has a greater value as hog food.

SHOULD BE ENCOURAGED.

"Our attitude is that existing successful reduction plants should be encouraged and establishment of hog farms limited to places not utilizing their garbage, or too small to render reduction feasible."

The telegram was signed, "Osborne, Food Administration, Garbage Utilization Department, Washington, D. C."

Attorneys J. E. Kelby and I. B. Dockweiler appeared in behalf of the reduction plant, and quoted with liberality statistics in an effort to refute figures and statements of Attorney Ray E. Nimmo, who addressed the committee last week in behalf of the hotel and restaurant owners. Nimmo, present at the hearing, and Assistant City Attorney Robertson engaged in a wordy battle over Robertson's denial that City Attorney Stephens had stated to Nimmo that the question of modifying the ordinance and contract was one of "policy." Nimmo declared the City Attorney had used the quoted word. Robertson said Stephens denied to him that he had made use of the word.

LEGAL, NOT PATRIOTIC.

Councilman Criswell, a member of the committee, expressed the opinion that the question involved is a legal one, and not one of patriotism. Attorneys Dockweiler and Kelby declare any modification of the contract would be a violation of the contract.

Last week Councilman Criswell enlivened the hearing when he said he had heard of a "slush fund" being used by the hotel and restaurant men. The amount named was $30,000. He demanded that these men present a report showing the amount of money subscribed to carry on their fight, and revealing what promissory notes or contracts for money had been filed. Yesterday a general denial was presented that any fund had been formed.

The Councilmen, because of the Washington telegram, have taken the entire subject under advisement.

NEW ASSISTANT POLICE SURGEON.

The resignation of Dr. James H. Beggs, as assistant police surgeon at the Receiving Hospital, was confirmed last night by Dr. John P. Gilmer, chief police surgeon. No reason for Dr. Beggs's action was given out. The resignation was accepted by Dr. Gilmer yesterday.

At the same time Dr. Gilmer announced the appointment to the position of assistant police surgeon of Dr. James M. Conerty, who last night assumed his new duties.

MITE BE.

It is denied that the government has seized 2,000,000 cheeses as a war measure. The statement carried its own denial. In due time the cheeses would have crawled off.

WHO CAN BLAME HIM?

Villa is said to be operating under an assumed name. Who can blame him? It's high time he were getting ashamed of his real name. Wonder what he's calling himself now—Little Lord Fauntleroy?

DOES IT?

Does it make it any easier on a poor suffering patient to be told that "the feverish condition called disease is only the hurried effort of the divine inner forces to expel obstructions from his corporeal body." That's what some folks are wanting to know. Does it?

YOU SEE!

Between the bunglers and blunderers on one side and the great objectors and flaccid pacifists on the other the administration charged with the conduct of the war has no child's job. Let us possess our souls in patience. It requires a nation that has been at peace for more than a half century some time to get the war machine going. But it will go, and run over all opposition at home or abroad.

THOSE CLEVER FELLOWS.

Doesn't it make you tired to see some smart Alec grin all over when you mispronounce the name of a great writer or musician when you know that all the said smart Alec knows about famous men is how to pronounce their names properly—and that he only acquired that knowledge in order to make really intelligent people feel cheap when they presume to quote from the masters in company? Go right ahead, don't mind the dunces—"the woods are full of 'em."

LOOKS THAT WAY.

Emperor William, popularly known as the war lord of Europe and actually the greatest criminal in the world's history, is said to be considering offering the deposed Czar a home in Germany after the war. Isn't Willie a little previous with his invitations to Nick and his family? By the time the world gets through with him, the Kaiser's authority to protect and entertain royalty may be somewhat curtailed. In fact, if Bill himself has a place to sleep o' nights he will be very, very lucky.

WORSE THAN A CRIME.

The fact seems to be that somebody blundered in the harbor at Halifax and that a steering mistake made the awful tragedy possible. The revelations growing out of the inquiry may compel a reorganization of our transport service in time to avoid a terrible loss of life among our troops on their way to France. They are entitled to every safeguard that the most expert supervision and the most efficient operation of the transport service make it possible for the government to provide.

THE RIGHT PLAN.

The civil officers of New Orleans have requested the charity associations not to feed able-bodied idlers, but to refer them to official employment agencies which will provide them with opportunities to earn their bread by working on the plantations or in city, county or State industrial institutions. In finding work for idlers and compelling them to earn their keep Louisiana, Maryland and West Virginia seem to be leading all other States. The plan should be universal. One of the great cries of the professional beggar is, "I don't want charity; I want work." There is no reason why his prayer should not be granted.

NEW PALESTINE.

There are in the United States 2,349,784 Jews, in Great Britain 287,000, in France 100,000, in Italy 43,929 and in Palestine 100,000. Germany and Austria-Hungary have 2,861,108. Russia and Poland have 7,770,479.

In the reorganization and repopulation of Palestine, which now seems possible, it is likely that the government of the new nation will take measures to refuse citizenship to and possibly to exclude altogether the 2,861,108 Germans and Austrians and the 7,770,479 Russians and Poles.

One million American Jews could make of Palestine a great little nation.

A VICTORY FOR RIGHT.

Let no one say that the retention of Dist.-Atty. Fickert in office was a "vindication" of that official and his activities in prosecuting criminals according to his duty—for neither the man nor his work required "vindication." However, the result of that election does prove that the majority of citizens of San Francisco believe in fair play and are not in sympathy with the dynamiting, murderous gang who would cut the throat of justice in order to save a fellow-criminal from the gallows. There are yet 50,000 or more voters in San Francisco who have not bowed the knee to Baal—nor to Baalam's notorious four-legged quadruped.

PUSH SUFFRAGE THROUGH!

Members of Congress will choose the wiser course if they vote to submit to a referendum of the States a constitutional amendment granting to the women of the nation the right of equal suffrage. Put it through! The women of the States where equal suffrage now prevails have fully justified their claim to the ballot. The game of politics is played more cleanly and occupies a higher plane than before women were permitted to vote; and the part which the women of America have taken in the war crises proves incontestably that they are qualified both mentally and temperamentally to assist in the direction of the destinies of the nation. To oppose longer the right of equal suffrage is simply to play the role of illogical obstructionist.

Three great pivotal commonwealths now grant equal suffrage to women. California took the initiative six years ago; Illinois followed, and New York, by a magnificent vote, has spoken the temper of the East. Women voted for Presidential electors in twelve States in 1916; Michigan and New York have been added to the list since that time. The will of the people of the country at large has received sufficient expression in recent State elections to indicate to Congress that the time has arrived for submitting the question to all the States. From the point of justice there is no valid reason why the women of the nation shall be kept half in electoral bondage and half free. It is another form of the great problem of human rights; like the question of human slavery, it will never be settled until all the women in all the States are equal at the ballot box as well as before the law.

By its steady advance the woman suffrage movement has shown that it is not a plant of mushroom growth, but that it possesses a heart of oak. It has probably been for the best that equal suffrage has been introduced by degrees—that it has passed through its experimental stages, one State at a time. But adequate reason no longer exists for further delay. There are a few States, principally in the South, where suffrage has been rejected and these States oppose a suffrage amendment to the Constitution of the United States. But it is not fair that the whole suffrage movement shall be impeded by a few objectors. It is unfair to the women who have led the equal suffrage movement to compel them to continue fighting for sex freedom in each of the States when a single campaign can settle the whole controversy. Why force these earnest, devoted and hard-working women to spend their time, energy and money and to line up the fighting strength of their friends in one arduous and costly battle after another?

There is a steadily-growing feeling throughout the whole nation that it is manifestly unfair to permit the women of one State to take part in a Presidential election and to bar from such participation the women of neighboring States. The women of Pennsylvania have a right to assume that they are as well qualified to choose a President as the women of New York; yet the New York women vote and those of Pennsylvania are permitted only to pay taxes and to obey decrees in the promulgation of which they are not permitted to assist. As they cannot take the suffrage away from the women of New York, their only recourse is to secure equal rights in their own State. The same logic applies to every State in which women are not permitted to vote. In no State where equal suffrage has once been granted has the privilege been withdrawn. No State having woman suffrage would think for a minute of giving it up. The proof of the pudding is incontestable, and the time is now opportune to permit the voice of the whole nation to be heard at one time on the question of equal suffrage. Let all the States have a chance to ratify the proposed amendment at once, instead of dragging out the contest. Why dilly-daily and prolong? Cui bono?

IN WHAT DOES GERMANY LEAD?

A storm of protest was aroused at the teachers' institute by the statement of a Stanford professor to the effect that the Germans are leaders of everything under the sun. If this were true there could be no wrong in admitting it, but the professor is mistaken. In a few branches of science it is true that Germany formerly led the world; but necessity is the mother of invention, and since the beginning of the war other nations of the world have learned a great many science secrets and in many respects have far surpassed Germany. In the matter of government there were indeed certain minor institutions which America and other countries might have copied to advantage—but the same may be said of the manners and customs of New Zealanders, Hawaiians and inhabitants of Madagascar. No nation is perfect and there is no people that could not learn something from even the wildest tribes of Africa or Australia. However, the system of German government, as a whole, was, and is, autocratic, militaristic and tyrannical to rottenness. As far as art, religion and philosophy are concerned, Germany had been on the back trail for some time before the war, and no greater proof of this statement could be offered than the fact that Germany was directly responsible for plunging the entire civilized world into the chaos of the dark ages. That Germany still remains leader in atrocious cruelties and unthinkable savagery no one will deny—and this leadership no nation will ever envy her.

RELATIVE VALUES.

A mental healer is suing a patient for the recovery of fees alleged to be due him for treatments. Why can't he simply imagine he has been paid and let it go at that? Besides, has not our own President said that all business conditions are merely psychological—or something to that effect? A story is told of a Hebrew who died and winged his way to the New Jerusalem. Not long afterward one of his friends arrived from earth and Ikey was explaining to the newcomer the wonders and glories of Paradise. "Up here," he said, "the good things of earth are increased a millionfold. For instance, a dollar here is equal to a million dollars of United States money, a minute of time is like a thousand years and——" "Hold on," interrupted the new arrival, "lend me a dollar, will you?" "Yes," replied the other, "in a minute."

The Tower of Strength.

LET THE GOVERNMENT STOP ITS OWN WASTE.

The United States government has appealed to every line of business and to every citizen to conserve supplies, to save labor and to direct all activities to useful ends, to eliminate waste efforts, to get the utmost good out of all expenditures. The appeal is almost universally heeded; but there are a few exceptions and, strange to say, some flagrant exceptions are found to be in the offices of the government itself.

Three years ago, in 1914, the Census Bureau gathered a mass of data concerning the business of the country, its resources and their developments, its factories and their output, the railroads and the trade of the nation. Leisurely and pleasantly the horde of tax-eaters attached to the Census Bureau labored, compiling the mass of figures and writing charming little sketches about the advances made in this and that industry—incidentally drawing their pay for doing it. Time was money to them, it is true; but not in just the way that that term is commonly used. With them the job was to be made to last.

Finally, after the years had rolled by and there was no further excuse for delay to be found, the mass of statistics, stale and putrid with age, found its way to that center of up-to-date energy and lightning efficiency, the government printing office. Meanwhile the war came on, and the government found itself in need of every cent, its appropriations for army, navy and war needs mounting up to billions. But to this need the Census Bureau and the government printing office gave no thought. An appropriation had been made to print the bundle of ancient history prepared by the census men and, cost what it might, the money must be spent so as to get into the pockets of the government's printers, a large part of them at least, devoted followers and servants of Sam Gompers. So in the intervals, when time was not fully taken up with printing the rubbish known as the Congressional Record, it was put upon the mass of ancient history prepared by the Census Bureau, now nearly four years out of date.

Now the result of these labors is appearing. While every line of private industry is required to save car space, to limit shipments and hurry loading and unloading, while the various authorities are consulting with each other to devise some means of relieving the transportation conditions, the mails are daily carrying masses of this trash to every part of the United States. Every newspaper office in the land is getting day by day pamphlets filled with statistics, a few of which may some day interest a student of antiquities.

For instance, California newspapers have recently received through the overburdened mails copies of a pamphlet dealing with the manufacture of gas in 1914—three years ago. Since then, in California, natural gas has put out of business a large number of the works so laboriously described. The consumption of materials is much larger in some lines and much less in others—but not a word about this in the publications of the Census Bureau. So far as California or any part of the country with which we have any acquaintance is concerned, not a single figure or statement contained in the pamphlet is now correct or possesses any value whatever.

Following the receipt of this ancient history of the gas industry there has come to hand another equally worthless pamphlet from the same source printed for no apparent purpose except to squander public money and to overload the mails. This second pamphlet tells us all about brass, bronze and copper three years ago, in 1914. Since that time every person who ever reads a newspaper and uses his mind at all knows that the war has created a demand for copper never approached before; that the industry has grown by leaps and bounds, and statistics six months old are of little value now.

Let the President and Congress act quickly and put a firm stop to this disgraceful waste of public funds and misdirection of labor at this time of national crisis. Let them forbid the printing of another line of the old 1914 census report, let them prohibit the mailing of any more copies of the worthless stuff already printed and let them have it sold for waste paper and the proceeds donated to the Red Cross—as private citizens are doing with similar but much superior literature of ancient date.

The Census Bureau is not the only offender among the departments of the government, although it is the most extreme among those which have come to our attention. Statistics of 1916 are just coming forth from the government printing office and cluttering up the mails. Is it not time to call a halt?

THE FORTHCOMING MIDWINTER NUMBER.

The annual Midwinter Number of The Times, which has been in course of preparation for months, will be out and ready to carry the ever-interesting and important message of progress and development of the Southwest January 1 next. The coming issue has many distinctive features and has been compiled with special reference to present conditions and the big questions and problems that world war have brought.

Many thousands of people have become interested in the Southwest in the past through reading the Midwinter Number of The Times. Thousands have come as visitors because of it, and thousands of comers have found corroboration and remained as residents.

Probably the biggest and most important message that could go from this garden spot of the nation this winter to people in other States is that we are producing food and other war necessities in great abundance. This cheering, encouraging story is well and fully told in the Midwinter Number by scores of authoritative articles. The edition tells how big an army California can feed besides sustaining its own population. It tells the big story of the war-time triumph of the Southwest in answering the call of the nation by bountiful production.

The number tells of the increasing smokestacks of Los Angeles and the full flowering of industry here in 1917. It tells of the remarkable achievement of a great shipbuilding company in establishing a site, building a plant and turning out great steel merchant vessels faster than the big old-established yards elsewhere in the country.

This Midwinter Number will be beautifully and artistically illustrated by the rotogravure process. The elaborate and costly rotogravure plant of The Times is the only one in the country west of the Rocky Mountains. The illustrations are in two tones.

The people of the Southwest will be proud to have the rest of the country know how much they have accomplished. Men and women in other States will read of the capacity for food production here, and their hearts will be lightened and encouraged. It is more important than ever this year to let your friends and acquaintances elsewhere know of the epochal happenings here through the Midwinter Number of The Times. It gives the news and gives it accurately.

Each Case Stands Alone.

An editor received this letter from a fresh youth:

Kindly tell me why a girl always closes her eyes when a fellow kisses her?

To which the editor replied:

If you will send us your photograph we may be able to tell you the reason.—[Puck.

Of course it costs money to smoke, but we know several friends who never touch tobacco, who are in debt. How can this be accounted for?

A GREAT SHRINKAGE.

BY TOM FITCH.

Joe Scott is probably in the same frame of mind as the colored brother who went fishing and caught a huge catfish. Not wishing to carry it with him, he fastened a string around its gills, tied the end of the string to a tree on the bank of the river, threw the fish into the water and proceeded down stream.

Another darky, also after fish, walking along the riverside, saw the string, pulled it up, detached the big fish, substituted for it a very small catfish which he had caught, and departed for home.

The first darky, returning from down stream, stopped at the tree and pulled up the string. He looked at the little fish with dismay. "Well," said he, "this is de same tree and de same string and I reckon you is de same fish, but dar has been de damnedest shrinkage in you dat ever I seed!"

WHY HAND IT TO THE GERMANS?

The Idea That They Have Led in Science Is a Delusion.

BY HENRY WATTERSON.

What epoch-making invention or discovery is of German origin—except a stamp on which is inscribed "Made in Germany?" Their scientists have kicked up a fair amount of spray as they gambolled in their pool; but the world has yet to hear a mighty Teutonic splash. Time and again French, English, American, Spanish and Italian inventors and discoverers have sent tidal waves around the globe. Let us now be specific.

The steam engine has been called the greatest of all inventions. It broke the shackles from slaves; it mingled the marts of the world; it made neighbors of the antipodes. Newcomen, a native of Devonshire, obtained the patent for the first partially successful steam engine; Watt, a Scotchman, perfected it; Cugnet, Murdock and Trevithick brought forward the locomotive, not on German soil; Stephenson, an Englishman, was the first to apply the locomotive steam engine to railways for passenger traffic; France, England and America applied it to navigation. When all had been completed, Germany pulled the whistle cord, shouted "Hoch der Kaiser" and tagged it "Made in Germany."

The telegraph, which brings us the daily history of the world, was invented by an American, Prof. Morse, who also suggested the Atlantic cable, which was subsequently laid by that American merchant-scientist, Cyrus Field, assisted in "mooring the new world alongside of the old" by Lord Kelvin, the prince of physicists, a British subject. Graham Bell, the chief inventor of the telephone, was born in Scotland and grew to fame in America. A young Italian, Marconi, gave wireless telegraphy to the world. The house of Hohenzollern has made great use of these inventions in telling Great Britain, America and Italy in arrogant verbiage what the vaterland has done for the benighted peoples of the earth.

Cyrus McCormick, a native of West Virginia, produced the reaping machine which harvests the food of the world; Meikle of England brought forth the threshing machine; thus was famine banished. Eli Whitney of Massachusetts parentage invented the cotton gin; Hargrave, an Englishman, made the spinning jenny; Arkwright, also English, supplied its deficiency with his famous spinning frame; the Englishman Kay introduced the fly shuttle in weaving; Brunel, who devised the knitting machine, and Cartwright, inventor of the power loom, were British subjects. Thus was the world clothed.

Although Germany is militaristic what votive offering has she made to the god of war? It was not she who contributed gunpowder, smokeless powder, percussion cap, nitroglycerin, guncotton, dynamite, torpedo, shrapnel, automatic cannon, magazine rifle, breech-loading gun, gatling gun, revolver, Maxim silencer, hammerless gun, gunboat, ironclad batteries or ship armor plate, revolving turret, submarine or airplane.

Since Germany borrowed her military appliances from other nations we are not surprised that she obtained her devices of prosperity from the same source. She did not produce the first aniline dye, vulcanized rubber, liquid gases, gas engine, water gas, thermometer, barometer, platinotype, barbed wire, cut nails, plate glass, circular saw, cable car, electric car, sleeping car, airbrake, bicycle, automobile, pneumatic tire, sewing machine, typewriter, calculating machine, cash register, steel writing pen, et cetera ad infinitum.

The greatest thing Germany has done is to advertise herself falsely as the light of the world. No son of hers invented the electric light, the kerosene lamp, the searchlight, the flashlight, the safety lamp, the candle dip or the friction match. America, France, England and other "untutored" nations performed these tasks. The sun, moon and stars are the only lights left for Germany's contention, and, according to the Mosaic account, the Lord and not the Kaiser made and placed them in the firmament.

Daguerre, a Frenchman, presented us with photography. Our own Edison brought forth the motion picture to delight and instruct the eye and the phonograph to please the ear. The Germans enjoy our reels and records, and, lifting high their steins, drink a prolonged toast to the achievements of the vaterland, "Deutschland uber alles."

Galileo, who first saw the heavens with a telescope, was an Italian. The men who first saw the earth and its teeming life with a microscope were not of German origin. Yet many telescopes and microscopes in our colleges, being marked "Made in Germany," have led students to believe that these wonderful instruments were devised by German brain. The Germans are mechanics, not inventors.

By use of the compound microscope Pasteur, the French biologist, as early as 1857 demonstrated a connection between microscopic organisms and disease. This was nine years before Dr. Koch, the German bacteriologist, had graduated. In this connection the important antiseptic surgery of Dr. Lister of England should be recorded. Edward Jenner, the discoverer of vaccination, and Harvey, the discoverer of the circulation of the blood, were Englishmen. An American taught the world the use of anesthetics. Our dentists excel all others. They are employed by many crowned heads—even the Kaiser has his.

The Teutons have not shown the engineering skill of the French, who cut the Suez Canal, or of the Americans, who joined the Atlantic and Pacific at Panama. The decimal or metric system by which the Germans make their measurements is a gift from France. The method by which they make their steel is that of Sir Henry Bessemer of England. Many of the fruits and vegetables of which they eat an enormous quantity were brought forth by our own peerless Burbank. No wonder that the Germans can "goose step" so high, for what else have they practiced?

Lavoisier, father of modern chemistry, was French; Linnaeus, founder of botany, was of Swedish origin. To Hutton of England we are indebted for geology; to Maury of Virginia for the physiography of the sea; to Descartes, of French parentage, for analytical geometry; to Comte of France, for sociology; to Germany, for sauerkraut and pretzels. Germany has not contributed her quota toward the world's achievement. How she struts in her foreign plumage. She is neither inventive, resourceful nor original.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

PLAYING THE GAME.

The men who've studied things like these, who've studied them in forty ways, say we can help things o'er the seas by having sundry meatless days. They say, "Cut out the wheaten bread one day a week, and eat corn pone; lap up less sugar when you're fed, and help to make the foeman groan." It isn't much to ask, gadzooks, and to refuse them were a shame; so let's instruct our gifted cooks to read the rules and play the game. I eat a rooster once a week, which braces me to play my harp; again I go down to the creek and lariat a cod or carp. When to the table I repair, in solemn state, three times a day, and see a loaf of white bread there I sternly order it away. I say to nephew, aunt and niece, "Go slow on butter and on lard; the Allies now are needing grease—we must not eat it by the yard." The government is most polite; it asks us kindly to retrench, and help our own men in the fight, and eke the British and the French. Yet some there are who give no heed, who laugh polite requests to scorn; they don't propose to curb their greed, and live on hens and fish and corn. They hang around in every town, you'll see them anywhere you look; and Uncle Sam is writing down their surnames in his little book. WALT MASON.

HOW DO YOU PRONOUNCE?

BY PROF. I. L. FOSTER,
Pennsylvania State College, Army Y. M. C. A. Secretary.

One of the difficult features of the world conflict lies in the fact that most of the important battles of which we have heard have occurred in France. This brings with it the need of pronouncing the names of cities, towns, mountains and rivers connected with each combat. They have received various sounds from the informed, as well as the ignorant, most of which you would scarcely recognize. Below will be found written phonetically the French words which have been referred to most frequently in reports from the army or in the newspapers. In these words the letter a is pronounced usually as "a in father" and e as "e in hen."

Too Delicate for the Work.

A man traveling in Maine met a middle-aged farmer, who said his father, 90 years old, was still on the farm where he was born.

"Ninety years old, eh?"

"Yes, pop is close to 90."

"Is his health good?"

"'Tain't much now. He's been complainin' for a few months back."

"What's the matter with him?"

"I dunno; sometimes I think farmin' don't agree with him."—[Western Christian Advocate.

"Much better 'ave left it on, mate," he returned, gently. "I useter have a face like yours till I saw it in the glass. Then I growed this beard."—[Chicago Herald.

Speaking of the drama of the war, Uncle Sam is now leading man.

But at that the Kaiser might win victory by looking in the direction.

The money spent in beautifying and outfitting the German submarine doubt comes from the sinking fund.

The Kaiser says it is to break the American army in France. It is no doubt laughing while the laughing is good.

There are a number of loafers in this country who will not be in the war front. They cannot pass the medical test.

Baseball players, football players and even golf players have in their ranks many of good soldiers. And to forego baseball next summer will not be necessary to get some excellent material.

It is proposed that the Fourth Division of the National Army be quartered at Camp Lewis, Wash., made up of men from Illinois and Kentucky (from which the name of Lincoln is closely associated), without a name, should be called the "The Lincoln Division." We second the motion.

The investigation into the management of the war department and there mismanagement, in the main the service has been patriotically performed, and the few instances of derelictions of duty will be properly mended. In getting the men under arms and getting a big navy there is a lot of work that doesn't appear in the limelight. Something will be overlooked in the fact that the war is a new thing to us and to the most of the men engaged in the mighty task.

THE FEATHER.

[Dr. E. P. Ryland states that he has "the mind of Christ" and proposes to aid the war for the freedom of the world.]

With sword unsheathed in the hand of Christ rides
On war's red charger in the van
Of freedom's legions hosted wide
In this, mankind's proudest plan.

Once more to death, but not to die,
He goes, a myriad in his train
Who for the freedom of the sky
Pour out their lives in vain.

The mind of Christ has led the human race
To bow no more to force or fear
And sends the strong into the place
Of danger, pain and cross
That war shall cease, or so go free.

Who has the mind of Christ must hate
Oppression, hate evil and wrong—
He brought a sword, a sword in phrase
And sentiment, not steel.

The saints are those who are kind,
Seek present justice, not the right—
Who follow Christ in spirit not
Bearing a banner and white.

HERE'S A NOTE FOR LODGE MEN.

Wife Wins Divorce Because Hubby Stayed Out so Much at Night.

Ernest Collins is a lodge man. In fact, he is too consistent a lodge man to please his wife, Ruth Collins, and she sued for divorce. Judge Wood granted it. The testimony was to the effect that he stayed out at nights, averaging from three to five nights a week. Sometimes he came home a little the worse for the wear, she said. Once he made a record of staying out six nights straight, it was declared. Furthermore, he was surly and would not speak to his wife for a long time.

VAN CAMP ASKS DIVORCE

Son of Well-known Packer Charges Wife with Deserting Him at San Pedro.

Through Attorney E. E. Sidebotten, suit was filed yesterday in the Superior Court by Gilbert C. Van Camp for divorce from Alice Van Camp. The charge is desertion. The plaintiff, who has lived in the harbor district for the last three years, is a son of the packer of that name. The young man is an employee in the Van Camp plant at San Pedro.

The Van Camps were married several years ago, Mrs. Van Camp being the daughter of a wealthy Indianapolis family. They came to the harbor district to live, but it is said that Mrs. Van Camp became dissatisfied with life there and left more than a year ago to live with her parents. There are no children and it is said that no special property interests are involved in the suit.

NOT TRUE, SAYS TRUE.

Denies He's Man Wanted in Kansas City on Charge Connected with Bankruptcy Case.

A man giving his name as Francis True, but who, it is alleged by Federal officers, is Orrin Robertson, who is under indictment in Kansas City, charged with concealing the assets of a bankrupt claimed to be valued at $100,000, was arrested yesterday by Fred H. Boden of the Department of Justice, at No. 1776 Alessandro street, where True, who says he is a physician, has for some time been conducting a sanatorium.

True denies strenuously that he is Robertson, and claims that he was never mixed up in any shady business. The matter will be further investigated today. The accused is in the County Jail.

RED CROSS ACTIVITIES

Hope that Los Angeles may reach the quota of 85,000 new members assigned to it in the Christmas membership drive of the Red Cross was expressed yesterday when Mrs. J. T. Anderson, who is in charge of the field work for Los Angeles city, announced that in the first three days of the drive Los Angeles secured a total of 20,451 new members. This leaves a deficit of 64,000 to be secured by next Monday night, when the drive will close.

Mrs. Anderson stated yesterday that she is pinning her hope of securing the full quota assigned upon the renewal of memberships. It has been expressly stated from Washington, in the present drive, that it is the hope of the National Committee that members of the Red Cross will see fit to renew their memberships at this time and these renewals will be counted as new memberships.

Los Angeles, San Diego, San Luis Obispo have each secured 12 per cent. of their quotas; Claremont reports 110 per cent.; Calexico, 92 per cent.; Fullerton, 90 per cent.; Monrovia, 95 per cent.; Whittier, 75 per cent.; Ojai-Nordhoff, 70 per cent.; Glendale, 82 per cent.; Sierra Madre, 60 per cent.; Alhambra, 57 per cent.; Redlands, 53 per cent.; Long Beach, 50 per cent.; Santa Ana, 43 per cent.; San Bernardino, 39 per cent.; Santa Monica, Redlands, Riverside, Santa Barbara, El Centro and Barstow, between 20 and 30 per cent.

In East Hollywood.

Women of the East Hollywood Auxiliary of the Red Cross are assured of the great success of the carnival that will be held on New Year's Eve at Vermont avenue and Hollywood boulevard. The corner of the boulevard and the avenue and all the streets leading to them will be converted into a veritable fairyland, in the midst of which will be dancing, athletic events, boxing features and innumerable booths where things both pretty and useful will be sold.

STRANGELY KILLED.

The unusual features attending the death of Dorothy Coffey, 20 months, who crawled under a truck, was apparently struck and died shortly afterward, without a sign of violence visible on her soft body, made the trial of the suit against Rivers Brothers for $25,000 damages, of a pathetic interest yesterday. A jury tried the action in Judge Taft's court yesterday and gave judgment for Rivers Brothers.

The evidence showed that the driver of the truck delivered fruit to a house in East Seventh street. Dorothy's parents resided in the rear. Because a neighbor visited Mrs. Coffey with her children, the babes were placed in an enclosure to play. When the driver returned to his truck, he cranked up and started. A terrified yell from a woman halted him. The unconscious body of Dorothy was seen near the rear wheel. Physicians examined her. There were no abrasions, no bones broken. But death was hovering over the little body. The spirit fled. The weight of the evidence was that Dorothy had escaped from the enclosure and crawled beneath the truck, unobserved by the driver.

MEN MAKE GOOD.

Judge McCormick Releases Fourteen From Probationary Sentences As Christmas Present.

Fourteen young men were given most acceptable Christmas gifts yesterday when Judge McCormick released them from probationary sentences. The action was requested by Capt. Dodds, chief probation officer, who said the men had "made good."

HELD UNDER BOND.

Leon Sochaki was arraigned before United States Commissioner D. M. Hammack, yesterday, on a charge preferred by Postoffice Inspector Walter Cookson, alleging that he had abstracted from a mail delivery box at Van Nuys a letter addressed to Smith and Blakeslee, Van Nuys. He was held to the Federal grand jury in $1000 bond.

Why Not Buy in a Real Oriental Store?
The majority of the so-called Oriental stores are not real stores of the Orient. They are managed on a new idea of attracting Americans by remodeling the goods and price, into Occidental methods. CANADA BACKS MEN AT FRONT.

Dominion Compulsory Service Act is Commended.

Retired Railroad Man Likes Southern California.

May Join Rose Tournament Association.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Dec. 21.—"Our boys in the trenches will now get backed up," said E. J. Chamberlain, former president of the Grand Trunk Railroad, with headquarters in Montreal, while talking of the present Canadian situation at the Hotel Maryland yesterday. "I know that your people are all familiar with the action of Sir Robert Borden in securing the passage of a compulsory service act very similar to your own. This was accomplished in the face of a strong opposition, and Sir Robert went to the people for his ratification. As I understand the reports in the papers the people of Canada are with him by an overwhelming majority. In the meantime it has been calling the men to the colors just the same as though there had been no question regarding the law, and now, with the backing of the country, he will be in a position to strengthen our forces very materially and enable Canada to do her full share toward bringing an end to this terrible war.

"It seems mighty good to be in our sunny Southern California after recent experiences in the East. When we were coming through I was told that all the freight trains on the New York Central had been snowed and the passenger trains ruled by the fearful storm. Judging by all the reports, it must have been something of a record-breaker."

Mr. Chamberlin is one of the big railroad men of the continent. He has seen forty-three years of service, and a goodly portion of that time was spent as president of the Grand Trunk, one of the great lines of the Dominion. The very serious illness of his wife caused him to retire early last September and devote his time to her restoration. They are here for the winter and are at the Huntington after its closing next week.

CAMPAIGN SUCCEEDS.

The committee working to secure the addition of 1200 members to the membership of Rose Tournament Association has already signed up more than the half of that number and feels confident of reaching the desired goal before the end of the present week. Work on the preparation of Tournament Park is progressing rapidly and it will be ready for the teams by the time they are in shape to commence work. Word has been received that the Marine Band of San Diego will be present in a body and take part in the parade unless something unexpected happens. Dr. Z. T. Sibley has been appointed grand marshal for the day and is already busying in the preliminary arrangements of the parade.

Ira Howard J. Fish of this city has presented to the Throop Museum of Mineralogy a choice collection of fossil and mineral specimens and ancient Indian stone implements. They were collected by Father, William Freeman, who was one of the earliest of the pioneer prospectors in this country and spent years wandering in the unsettled places.

The Christmas season was inaugurated by Lake avenue Congregational Church yesterday afternoon with a party for the beginners' department of the Sunday-school. Under the direction of Mrs. C. B. Rudick a programme of pictures, songs and stories was given for their entertainment.

ELKS BALL.

Christmas is always a busy time for the members of the Elks' lodges throughout the country, and Pasadena is no exception to the rule. The members here commenced their campaign with a monster ball at the Hotel Green last night. It was a veritable throng of dancers that thronged in a large sum all of which went toward giving a proper Christmas to the orphans in the Pasadena home and to other unfortunates.

Mr. Harley F. Newell of No. 48 South Hudson avenue, entertained the Ohio Society at its regular monthly meeting last night. An interesting programme was given, consisting for the most part of readings by Mrs. E. R. Loud and vocal solos by Miss Grace Johnson. Lieut. F. Odell, who is home on furlough, told them something of the daily life in the training camp at Princeton, Pa.

The cadets at the Army and Navy Academy in San Rafael Heights gave a concert and a play for the entertainment of their parents and friends last night. There were about 200 in attendance and most of them remained for the dance given at the close of the performance. One of the features of the evening was the presentation of football letters to the members of the team by Coach Bob Cromwell.

BUTCHERS CONTINUE TO SELL VEAL.

SANTA ANA, Dec. 20.—Local butchers are going to continue to sell veal unless direct orders to the contrary are received from the government. MEXICALI, Dec. 20.—Gov. Esteban Cantu of the northern district of Lower California, today authorized a denial of the story emanating from San Diego that he was plotting to set up an independent state, and withdraw from the central Mexican government to throw his lot with the Allies. TEACHERS' INSTITUTE SESSION CLOSED.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

FULLERTON, Dec. 20—The Orange County Teachers' Institute, which has been in session here the past three days, has adjourned and the teachers of the county, 427, go from here to Los Angeles to attend the annual convention of Southern California teachers.

The most interesting session of the institute was this morning, as two particularly striking addresses were delivered. The first was by Dean Shailer Mathews of the Chicago University, who took for his subject "The Hopeful Meaning of History." The dean said: "The big movements in history are always spiritual and represent real advancement, while backward movements are always temporary." The second was delivered by John H. Francis, superintendent of schools of Columbus, O., and formerly of Los Angeles. The superintendent emphasized the necessity of the teacher recognizing differences in individual pupils and need of using talents that pupils have, even if they do not agree with the course of study. The afternoon was given to an auto excursion through the northern section of Orange county, that being the closing event on the programme.

EXPORT DUTY ON COTTON REDUCED.

CONCESSION IS MADE BY COL. CANTU TO ENCOURAGE COTTON MEN.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

CALEXICO, Dec. 20.—Col. Esteban Cantu today announced a reduction of the export duty on cotton shipped from the northern district of Lower California into California. The reduction amounts to 20 pesos per metric ton, or about one-third of the duty which has been in effect for the past few months.

Cotton men in Lower California who are sending more than 50,000 bales to the gins to be shipped from this side are grateful to Col. Cantu for the reduction, as it means a larger acreage next year. The action of the Governor is in line with his policy of encouraging all agricultural work in his dominion, whether by Americans or Mexicans.

INJURED BY LEAP FROM MOVING TRAIN.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

FRESNO (Cal.) Dec. 20.—With her left arm broken, her right arm badly injured, her face lacerated and possibly suffering from internal injuries, Mrs. Elizabeth Kline, the woman who leaped from a northbound Santa Fe passenger train in her nightgown at midnight Tuesday, was found today near the San Joaquin River bridge in Fresno county. The woman was located when she appeared at a farmhouse and asked for a drink of water. The farmer notified Sheriff H. Thorwaldsen, who brought the woman to the local jail in his automobile. Mrs. Kline refused to talk to any one at the jail. Her injuries were treated by the county physician and she was removed to the County Hospital. She is believed to be the wife of a Buffalo business man.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 20.—Mrs. B. Obert, a sister of Mrs. Elizabeth Kline who was coming to visit her at her home here, started immediately for Fresno when told of the locating there of Mrs. Kline, who had jumped from a Santa Fe limited train at midnight Tuesday. Mrs. Obert will arrange to have Mrs. Kline brought here, she said.

WAR-TIME ECONOMY.

Teachers Entertain Pupils With Food Raised on School Grounds.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SOUTH PASADENA, Dec. 20.—Illustrative of the possibilities of war-time economy, the Misses Mary and Florence Housel, principals of Huntington Hall, private school situated in Oneonta Park, entertained their pupils on the occasion of their departure for the Christmas vacation with a dinner prepared from materials collected entirely from within the precincts of the school property.

The turkeys were taken from a flock which has furnished many previous meals for the young women, the cream and milk was the "donation" of the Huntington Hall cows, which indirectly furnished the butter also. All the vegetables were supplied from a large garden, which is the special pride of the hall girls. Grain raised and ground on the place formed the base for loaves of luscious whole-wheat bread. And the flowers used in decorating the table were likewise a strictly Huntington Hall product.

THIEVES ARE ACTIVE AT REDONDO BEACH.

REDLANDS, Dec. 20.—Thieves of more than ordinary ability and imagination have been busy in Redlands for several days and so far they have failed to leave any clew by which the police could trace them. They have taken nothing but jewelry and money, and the police believe that Christmas gifts have been their object.

At the home of Mrs. H. A. Bates on Center street, they entered the house while Mrs. Bates was away and took about $200 worth of jewelry and silver toilet articles. They did not take any of the valuable art works or the tableware in the house.

At the home of Harry Apgar they took $50 in money and a new gold wrist watch. They passed up all silver plate and other articles at this home. They also made an attempt to enter the home of J. O. Riddel, but were not successful.

RANCHER CHARGED WITH LARCENY.

PORTERVILLE, Dec. 20.—Frank Sutch, owner of a foothill orange grove property, has sworn to a complaint charging Frank McAllister, a Springville district rancher, with grand larceny. McAllister, according to Constable Hoover, who took him to Visalia to await his preliminary hearing, confessed to having driven a truck to the Sutch home while they were on a visit in Southern California and that he took from it a load of household goods and tools.

McAllister is the owner of a fine ranch of 320 acres and was formerly an instructor in the New York City schools. Constable Hoover says McAllister said he could not account for the strange impulse which led him to the theft.

WILL REBUILD RIO HONDO BRIDGE.

WHITTIER, Dec. 20.—Work will begin at once on the establishment of a new bridge across the Rio Hondo on the Old Mission road, just beyond the Pluma winery, according to the local Chamber of Commerce.

The bridge was washed out almost two years ago. Money for its reconstruction was appropriated some time ago, but no work was done. The increasing importance of the Old Mission road on account of extra traffic brought about by the development of the Montebello oil fields, has caused a new demand on the county authorities for quick action. Supt. John J. Hamilton assures the Whittier Chamber of Commerce that the construction of the bridge will be expedited at once.

It is understood that the county appropriation for the work is $36,000. The new outlet afforded from Whittier to the active portion of the Montebello oil field will be appreciated by the large number of workers who live here, and who will find their route to work shortened by about two miles.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

EL MONTE, Dec. 20.—Manager E. J. Fazakerley of the Red Cross bazaar and carnival held last week at the Woman's Club house announces that the total receipts were $1068.39, the expenditures $120.21, and the net proceeds $948.18. This money is to be used to buy yarn and other materials to be worked by the local Red Cross members into articles for the soldiers in the cantonments and in France. The auction of various articles, including a pedigreed pig, brought excellent returns, as did the mock court in which prominent citizens were found guilty of various crimes and fined as punishment.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL SITE IS SELECTED.

AZUSA, Dec. 19.—At a school election held here, the voters of the Azusa grammar school district turned down an offer of the site of the Citrus Union High School for $40,000. A site adjoining the present grade school, which was built twenty-five years ago, was selected.

The High School offer was made when the grammar district was bonded for $50,000 for a new building. Glendora patrons of the High School saw an opportunity to move the High School from this city to a midway site if the old plant could be sold. As a result of the election it is probable the High School will remain here for some years to come.

PORTERVILLE, Dec. 20.—Formal application has been made to Adjt.-Gen. J. J. Borree for the establishment in Porterville of one of the twelve new companies of the California National Guard, recently authorized under new orders from the War Department.

More than 120 signatures to a tentative petition have been secured and an effort is to be made to have at least 100 men not subject to military duty included in the honorary roll. W. E. Sprott, general manager of the Tulare County Citrus Fruit Exchange, heads the committee charged with the formation of the company.

BRISK CALL FOR RAILS RALLIES INDUSTRIALS.

New Wall Street Minimums are Made on Broad Afternoon Selling.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—The stock market traversed familiar ground today, securities making new minimums on the broad selling of the forenoon. The proportion of lower levels at that period exceeded any recent session.

Tentative support of rails and industrials at mid-day developed into a brisk demand later, especially in the last hour.

The rally was in full progress at the active close, steels, coppers, shippings and representative rails leading. United States Steel, for example, closed at 82 3-4, a gain of practically 2 points, and Union Pacific, among the weakest early stocks, make a gross rebound of over three points to 104 3-8. Sales, 540,000 shares.

Improvement coincided with the more aggressive note sounded by the British Premier. Some significance attached to the strength of international bonds, Anglo-French 5's advancing 3% per cent. and the United Kingdom 2½ per cent. All the French bonds also hardened perceptibly.

Nominal improvement was registered by domestic bonds, although the Liberty 3½'s were heavy at $8.44 to the new minimum of $8.10 the 4's selling between 97.10 and 97.

Sales of bonds, par value, aggregated $5,135,000. United States bonds, old issues, were unchanged on call.

CITY JOBS TO BE OPEN SOON.

Many Vacancies on Different Commissions Near.

Mayor Must Appoint New Men by First of Year.

Council Discusses Candidates for Conwell's Place.

Mayor Woodman would rather hunt wild boars on Santa Cruz Island than wade through the task awaiting him the first of the new year—finding men and women to fill the vacancies that will exist on several public commissions and boards, and of inducing the City Council to come to his opinion in providing legislation for a motion-picture commissioner.

Robert Wirsching's term as a member of the Board of Public Utilities will expire December 31, so will John W. Kemp's term as a member of the Board of Public Service Commissioners; P. P. O'Brien, member of the Board of Public Works, will be at the end of his term, the same date, as will also O. E. Monnette's term on the Public Library Board.

The only reappointment the Mayor announced he would make was that of Commissioner P. P. O'Brien. There is said to be some sentiment in the Council that may oppose this appointment, but the Mayor hopes to overcome it. Kemp, it has been stated, is anxious to retire to his law practice, and his going is said to figure in the talked-of reorganization of the Public Service Board. There are two long-existing vacancies in the Municipal Art Commission, and one in the Humane Animal Commission remaining to be filled.

TO HOLD TWO JOBS.

There has been some discussion concerning Thomas Hughes' tenure in office as a member of the Harbor Board. This arose from the political gossip that he is to manage Gov. Stephens' campaign. The Mayor said Hughes had not offered to resign; that he had not asked him to resign, and that in his opinion Hughes could fill both positions.

There is a bare possibility that there will be vacancies on the Police and Fire Boards; also in the Civil Service Commission the first of the year, but as to these Mayor Woodman declined to vouchsafe information or even a guess.

The Mayor and members of the Council conferred yesterday afternoon about a successor to the late Councilman Conwell, and discussed the question of electing a president of the Council, made vacant by the death of Mr. Conwell. While the result of the conference settled the fate of a number of anxious candidates for Councilmanic honors, no information was permitted to leak out as to the identity of the candidates discussed.

DISCUSS CANDIDATES.

During the day the makers of Councilmen discussed the appointment of Boyle Workman of Boyle Heights, and formerly a member of the Board of Public Service. The name of Gen. Robert Wankowski was mentioned, too. Mayor Woodman declared neither name was presented in the conference.

From all indications, however, it is believed the Councilmen and the Mayor have agreed upon a man who will be appointed to succeed the late Councilman Conwell, and that the appointment will be made within a few days.

Assemblyman F. H. Mouser held many whispered meetings about the City Hall yesterday, and to each listener he admitted he could measure up to Councilman Conwell's standard. Dr. A. D. Houghton's name was spoken frequently by friends. Clarence B. Strohm, who ran twenty-second in the primaries, a Native Son, is conducting an active campaign; so is Eugene Bisdaluiz, another Native Son.

FUNERAL OF FILM ACTOR TOMORROW.

ERIC CAMPBELL INSTANTLY KILLED IN AUTOMOBILE COLLISION.

The funeral of Eric Campbell, "villain" of the Charley Chaplin comic films, will be conducted at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning at the parlors of the Ivy Undertaking Company at Tenth and Hill streets. Campbell was instantly killed about 4:30 o'clock yesterday morning in an automobile collision at Wilshire boulevard and Vermont avenue.

The accident, according to the police, was caused by the intoxicated condition of the motion-picture star. In the report made by Detectives Oaks and King, who investigated the case, details of a gay party at the Vernon Country Club, which is said to have preceded the accident, are given.

Mr. Campbell, according to the police, was driving east on Wilshire boulevard at a speed of fifty miles an hour and on the wrong side of the street. W. A. Hollenbeck of No. 1420 Manhattan avenue, who was driving north on Vermont avenue, saw Campbell's car approaching at a fast rate and endeavored to get out of the way by speeding ahead.

Hollenbeck's car was struck on the rear end by Campbell's auto and both machines turned over. With Mr. Campbell was Miss Jean Crossby of No. 1207 Maryland avenue and H. L. Schneiders of No. 1120 West Sixth street. Both were thrown from the machine and severely cut and bruised. Mr. Campbell was instantly killed. Mr. Hollenbeck was thrown from his car and received fractures of three ribs. All of the injured party were treated at the Receiving Hospital by Police Surgeon Zorb.

BRING PAIR BACK AS AUTO THIEVES.

Earl Smith and Charles Johns were brought here yesterday from San Luis Obispo and placed in the County Jail, charged with stealing an automobile owned by Miss Edith Judy of Santa Monica. The men were arrested while driving north.

Two other men accused of stealing an automobile were arrested at Montebello. They are Fred Erickson and J. A. Loesch. They were arrested in the machine. To whom it belongs was not known yesterday by the officers.

NINE JURYMEN TO TRY SUIT.

Attorneys Stipulate that Seven may Give Verdict in Damage Action.

A shortage of veniremen made it incumbent for a damage suit to go to trial in Judge Monroe's court yesterday with nine jurymen. The attorneys stipulated that an agreement among seven jurors would carry a verdict.

The case was that of Elsie MacDonald and William MacDonald against the Southern Pacific for $5000 damages for injuries Mrs. MacDonald is alleged to have received. She slipped on the metal step of a railway coach in San Francisco, September 4, 1915, and alleged negligence on the part of the corporation.

or other, and are segregated for a time to prevent their becoming common carriers of germs and microbes that they might have in their clothes. These are killed by fumigation or other means, so that when the soldier emerges he is a better and stronger man and no longer an abiding place for predatory bugs. Preventing sickness, instead of letting it get a running start, is the big idea down here. If this system was adopted in private life, the country would be able to declare at least "one doctorless day" a week while materially reducing the national consumption of pink pills and Peruna.

Increasing patronage has necessitated plans for enlarging all five of the Y.M.C.A. Buildings, it is announced by J. R. Voris, camp general secretary. On to each building will be tacked an auditorium capable of seating 1000 persons. These new annexes, which will front on the parade ground, will be bigger than the parent stem, which comes under the head of rapid growth. The present quarters will be converted into social rooms and rooms for officers. In addition, the contract has been let for an $1800 Y.W.C.A. building near the remount station, and one costing more than $5000 at the base hospital.

Every peroxide blonde mule in the camp is being converted into a dashing brunette. This is what is technically known as camouflaging live stock, and in a way places Hercules and Samson in the same class with hand-painted China. Thus does the painted mule take its place along side the painted lady, except that the latter is not allowed in camp and the mule is. The work is being done under direction of Maj. Coleman Nicholds, division veterinary and is in personal charge of Lieut. H. Eakins, a former professor of materia medica, or words to that effect. A paper-hanger wanted the job, claiming that he could make the mules look more artistic than a landscape artist, and still not cause falling of the hair which might follow an application of paint. His idea was to paper the mules with one of the designs sometimes seen in a sitting-room, showing a wheatfield with green trees here and there, the whole surrounded by a rail fence with a clear stream running through the field. This he claimed, would make it impossible for the enemy to distinguish the mule from the surrounding country. Also the picture of the rail fence on the wall paper would keep the mule from jumping out and escaping, while the picture of the wheat field and running stream would satisfy the mule's longing for food and water. When hungry or thirsty the mule would simply turn its head and look at itself.

Leo Youngworth, accompanied by Mrs. Youngworth, today gave the camp the once over. While here they were the guests of Capt. Sterling S. Booth of the One Hundred and Sixtieth Machine Gun Company, widely known as one of our crack organizations.

To Recover.

CITY MAY SUE FOR PENSIONS.

Judge Rules Money has been Paid Illegally.

Plan to Start Court Action for Recovery.

Decision Causes Speculation Among Officials.

A ruling by Judge Finlayson yesterday in the suit of Mrs. Mary L. McKeag against the city of Los Angeles, to recover $1000 pension money, paid to her stepsons, Charles and W. H. McKeag, threw a bombshell into the Policemen's and Firemen's Pension Commission. It appears from this ruling that the pension board has been paying out funds illegally and that the city will be forced to recover it by a suit.

Mrs. McKeag was the widow of William H. McKeag, a police sergeant, who died May 3, 1916. She was his second wife, having married him August 21, 1914. She testified that he left her in January, 1916, and that she had gone on the street to get him to come back. Family interference was blamed for her husband's alleged defection.

The pension board, which has exclusive control of pension money, under the city charter, turned Sergt. McKeag's $1300 pension over to his sons, Charles McKeag, secretary of the Police Commission, and William H. McKeag. An opinion by the City Attorney held that the commission could use its discretion in the matter.

BELONGED TO NEITHER.

When the suit came before Judge Finlayson yesterday, he read the city ordinance governing the disposition of the pension fund and held that this $1000 belonged neither to the widow nor to the sons, and gave judgment in favor of the city. The ordinance provides that the pension money must be paid to those members of the police and fire departments who die as the result of injuries received while in the performance of their duty, or who contract sickness or disease while on duty. It did not appear that the death of Sergt. McKeag came within any of these categories, and for that reason the court held that the pension board had paid the money illegally to the McKeag brothers.

He suggested that the City Attorney bring suit to recover the money. This, it is understood, will be a friendly suit to test the matter. The McKeag brothers, on the advice of their counsel, Attorney R. W. Kemp, will pay the $1000 into court until the issue is determined.

Charles McKeag stated yesterday that the commission is anxious to have the matter determined, inasmuch as "every member of the police and fire departments is vitally affected by it."

City Attorney Stephens, while not in possession of Judge Finlayson's decision, had been informed of it and he found food for speculation in its apparent far-reaching effect. He will probably institute a friendly suit against one of the widows of police officers to test the validity of the entire ordinance. Several widows have received lump sums in lieu of the monthly pension, and the court's ruling against Section 7 of the ordinance seems to apply to this custom; however, this cloud on the ordinance is to be removed in order to enable the police pension board to ascertain just what the taxpayers desire to do in the way of pensioning policemen; also members of the fire department.

Judge Finlayson's ruling that widows or other dependents of policemen whose death is attributable to natural causes and not to injuries or illness contracted while on duty, are not entitled to receive pension money monthly or in lump sums, caused surprise in City Hall circles.

Those widows and children who have received pension money in a lump sum in lieu of the monthly payments, are:

Mrs. Cora J. Bradish, $1000; Mrs. Pearl Bedgood, $300; Mrs. Elizabeth Dunn, $1000; Mrs. Pearl Jaggers, $900; C. E. and W. H. McKeag, Jr., $1000; Mrs. Ellen M. Morarity, $1000, and Mrs. Etta Sloan, $1000.

It is possible that the City Attorney will institute a suit to recover money paid to one of these.

FIND UNUSUAL USE FOR DRAFT LISTS.

CITY IS GOING TO PUT THEM TO WORK TRACING FOLK WANTED BY IT.

Members of the City Council's Welfare Committee yesterday adopted the Municipal Efficiency Commission's recommendation that it centralize the work of tracing property owners and witnesses in the case of street improvement work, but turned down former Efficiency Director Burks's plan to lease the addressograph property of a private company for eight years at an annual rental of $3100.

The plan was before the Council's Welfare Committee yesterday. The committee was informed that City Clerk Wilde has a better plan in view, and he was requested to describe it in writing. His plan will save the city the expenditure of additional funds, it is claimed, and it will do away with several annual appropriations running into many thousands of dollars. One of the items of assistance he will be able to offer is the address information he can obtain from the 50,000 draft registration cards in his possession.

With the Wilde plan in operation, a property ownership record bureau will be maintained in his office and under his jurisdiction. It will provide information necessary in tracing names in street assessment work, and will also be of value to the City Engineer's office, and the City Attorney's department.

JEWELRY CONFISCATED.

Gems Sent Over Border When Villa Threatened Raid Revert to Government.

Judge Trippet yesterday made an order confiscating jewelry claimed to be owned by Vida Rodgers of San Francisco, that was smuggled across the line at Tia Juana, more than a year ago, and the goods will be sold by the United States Marshal. It is alleged to be worth several thousand dollars.

When Villa made a feint to attack Tia Juana, in 1915, Miss Rodgers, sent the jewelry by a Mexican to James B. Miller at San Diego for safe keeping. It was seized as the man crossed the line. Later Miller was arrested for violation of the Mann White Slave Act, and convicted, and sentenced by Judge Trippet to a year and a day in the Federal prison at McNeil's Island, and a fine of $1500. His case is now on appeal. Miller is now a moving picture operator in Seattle.

REVERSE JUDGMENT.

The State Supreme Court yesterday reversed the judgment for $3500 in favor of August Schuh, rendered by the Superior Court of Los Angeles county, against the R. H. Herron Company. Schuh was employed in the plant and injured by an accident that he claimed was caused by the negligence of the corporation.

COLUMBUS FUND NEARING GOAL.

Knights Pleased with Success of Their Campaign.

Two-fifths of City's Quota Already in Hand

Rercreational Centers Established in Many Camps

The efforts of the committees devoted to the Knights of Columbus war camp fund drive are meeting with success that indicates that the allotment of $50,000 to Los Angeles will reach its goal. The contributions yesterday amounted to about $3500, and several large subscriptions are yet to be heard from. Meetings of the committees are held daily at which time the results of the drive are tabulated. The total at noon yesterday was $19,880.

In the various training camps throughout the country the Knights of Columbus have in operation seventy-three recreational centers. At Camp Kearny there are two of these buildings on account of the large number of soldiers at the camp. A large amusement hall with a seating capacity of 1200 and in which is provided piano players, phonograph games of all kinds, and facilities for writing, are the features of the building.

At Camp Kearny over 12,000 sheets of letter paper are given out daily, indicating the use given these centers by the men in service. The men in charge at this camp are at present engaged in preparing an elaborate Christmas tree for the men who must remain in camp over the holidays. From this tree will be distributed presents to those who are unfortunate enough not to be remembered at this time. This gives but a sidelight on some of the objects accomplished by the Knights of Columbus in their welfare work, which is extended to all men in service irrespective of creed. Money is needed for the continuance of this work and your help will be gratefully received.

NOTED CHARACTER ACTOR SUCCUMBS.

Joseph Callahan, a character actor employed by the Keystone motion-picture studio here for the past two years, passed away at his residence, the Zahl apartments, No. 1006 Echo Park avenue, yesterday. He was 53 years of age, and leaves a widow and two children.

Among the old-school actors Mr. Callahan was known as a man of marvelous versatility in characterization. He began his career on the stage twenty-five years ago as a member of companies headed by Edwin Booth and John McCullough. Later he appeared with William Sheridan.

After playing in stock for a great many years he supported Dannie Davenport in "La Tosca," and was then starred by Klaw & Erlanger. His production of "Faust" was regarded as almost perfection. In Los Angeles he was known as an excellent character actor, with a great range.

lasted until 11 o'clock, and which developed into a stormy session. The association then issued its final ultimatum. It offered a weekly minimum wage of $22.50, with closing hours on Saturday nights at 7:30 o'clock, and it again emphatically declared that there would be no recognition of the union.

This final statement was laid before the union last night, and after long discussion it was unanimously accepted. There will be no discrimination against a man because he belongs to the union, but his employment will depend entirely upon his own ability for the work for which he is employed.

INVESTMENT COMPANY STOCK WORTH MORE.

INCREASE IN ONCE DEFUNCT CONCERN IS SHOWN—NO DIVIDEND THIS YEAR.

Frank P. Flint, president of the Los Angeles Investment Company, states in the annual report of that concern that the stock has increased in value from $1.91 to $1.99 per share, owing to the fact that the number of outstanding shares was reduced from 3,000,000 to 2,829,807 in the settlement of 5474 cases in which debtor stockholders were interested. There are now only seven cases left to be settled.

The value placed upon real estate and buildings is the same as that of last year. The directors claim that the opening of the Seventh-street shopping district has caused some of the company's property to increase in value, while other pieces of it have slightly decreased. No dividend will be declared this year.

During the past eleven months the company has sold 136 houses valued at $368,106. This is a marked increase over the number of houses sold last year. Oil prospectors who have been drilling wells on some of the company lands report that they have not yet met with success.

LET 'EM SMOKE, SHE SAYS

Mme. Schumann-Heink has no use for Some "Reforms" in War Time.

Mme. Schumann-Heink was the big star at the Christmas entertainment given for the men at the United States naval training station, at the Harbor yesterday. She sang "But the Lord is Mindful," "Danny Boy," and "When the Boys Come Home." In closing, she sang "The Star Spangled Banner" with Miss Sophye Barnard, Miss Edith Evans acting as accompanists.

There were several other musical numbers on the programme, notably one by Al Christie, Billy Mason and Alice Forest. A large number of motion-picture players and producers took part in the entertainment. After the music and gaiety the players and musicians passed out hundreds of packages of cigarettes to the sailors.

"We ought to put our feet on the necks of the people who object to smoking tobacco for the soldiers and sailors," said Mme. Schumann-Heink last night. "It is poor policy to begin reforming men who go forth to lay down their lives for you. Give the men all the comfort you can. We don't want booze in the army, but he's a pretty poor patriot who turns reformer in a world crisis."

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE]

LONDON, Dec. 21.—The Rada, the governing body of the Ukraine, apparently is maintaining its determined stand as to Bolshevik government. It is reported that it has converted its sympathies with the movement of Gen. Kaledines, the Cossack leader, into a definite alliance.

Advices received from Russia are to the effect that the Bolsheviki commissioners, after receiving the Rada's rejection of the Bolsheviki ultimatum, sent another one, giving the Ukraine a further forty-eight hours in which to reconsider its refusal to acquiesce in the demands of the Bolsheviki government.

ODESSA.

Another report received here says that Odessa now has definitely gone over to the side of the Ukraine. Details of the capture of Rostov-on-Don, printed in Petrograd show that there were six days of fighting before the Cossacks entered the town on Saturday. The Red Guards lost 800 men killed and 1000 wounded in the fighting. The Cossacks gave no quarter, but shift to the Red Guards, whom they hate. The Bolsheviki troops fled from the town on board steamships. The cruiser Kolkvida (Kolkhida?) grounded in the river and was destroyed by the Cossack artillery.

There has been no important fighting at Nakhitchevan, province of the Don, where the Bolsheviki and Cossacks have fraternized with the Cossacks. A clash has occurred between the Bolsheviki and Ukrainians at Bolgard, Bessarabia. The town changed hands five times.

UPRISING.

The Terek and Kuban Cossacks are reported to be experiencing troubles in their own territories, the hill tribes of the Northern Caucasus having risen. It is also said that some of the Cossacks in the Don territory are dissatisfied with their leaders and disaffected with the movement in favor of the Ukraine.
